SAW MILLS

AMERICAN VARIABLE BELT FEED

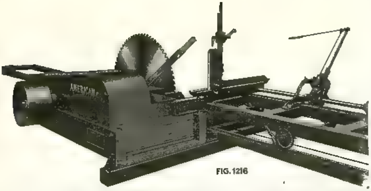

FIG. 1216

Feed Belts—Of ample width to transmit the necessary power for feeding the logs into the saw mill; 4 in. for the Nos. 1 and 2, and 6 in. for the No. 3. The special coated fabric belts regularly furnished have been carefully selected after long trial, and are flexible enough to take up the strain caused by the sudden forward and reverse motion of the carriage, and at the same time have ample strength and durability.

Feedworks Bearings—Best grade babbitt, carefully fitted. Feed and gig-back pulleys on the mandrel are flanged. The rest of the pulleys have crowned faces. All pulleys are machined and balanced Husk Frames—Ruggedly constructed of sturdy first quality timbers of ample strength to withstand the strains imposed upon this unit by powerful feed and the heavy duty mandrel. Steel tie rods hold the entire assembly in one strong unit. Two machined steel board rolls are supplied, one of which is equipped with steel spreader. They are mounted in strong cast iron bases, and revolve freely Feed mills are covered with a cast iron guard (except when board platform is supplied, in which case they are guarded by the platform).

Mandrels—High grade alloy steel, accurately ground and polished. The "tight" saw collar is of steel, shrunk on, and the end is bored and threaded internally, to protect the threads. The loose saw collar has two lug pins, carefully fitted, and easily replaceable.

Mandrel Bearings—Best grade of babbitt, carefully scraped and accurately fitted. They are chain oiled and are fitted with oil wells. Convenient adjusting screws are provided to allow for regulating the lead of the saw.

Carriages—Made of first quality timbers, of generous dimensions. Cross braces are of ample strength and closely spaced the entire length of the carriage. They are mortised and tenoned into the side frames. Steel tie rods at each cross member bind the entire assembly into a single unit and keep the original alignment of the carriage.

Truck Wheels—Hard, close grained semi-steel castings. Each set consists of one machine-grooved wheel and one flanged wheel and there are four sets of 7 in. wheels on the No. 1; six sets of 7 in. wheels on the No. 2; and six sets of 8 in. wheels on the No. 3. The grooved wheels and shaped track are on the husk side. Flanged wheel rides against the inside of the far track.

Wire Cable Carriage Drive—Style C is standard. Cast iron drum is machine grooved, and the sheave wheels have oilless bearings.

Truck Axle Bearings—Best grade babbitt. Bearings are adjustable to take up end play of the axles.

Track—Rolled steel, one "V" and one flat rail. Grooved track scrapers are provided at each wheel.

Headblocks—Standard steel bases are of ample proportions. Cast iron knees are heavy and strong. Accurately fitted and slide freely without lost motion. Equipped with full length scale, graduated in ¼ in. divisions, with an adjustable pointer on the front head block base.

Dogs—Furnished as standard are as follows: No. 1—two "Ever Ready" dogs; Nos. 2 and 3—two No. 1 "Giant" dogs.

New Improved Ideal Set Works—Incorporate all the latest features desirable for sawing accurate lumber at high production. It is positive and fast, and the new rugged yoke construction provides great strength to withstand easily the shocks and strains of saw mill operation.

Regular Equipment—Furnished as standard includes husk frame with variable belt feed, complete with pulleys and necessary feed belt. Saw mandrel with collars and self-aligning babbitted bearings Mandrel drive pulley. No. 4 saw guide, steel spreader wheel and steel board rolls. Cast iron corner brackets, foundation bolts, cant hook, oil can and wrenches, feed works housing, or board platform, "V" and flat track, track irons with spikes and screws.

CENTURY BOATS

Designed for either rowing or small outboard motors, and performs well whether rowed or powered. Distinctive among craft of its type because of the high, glossy finish typical of all Century boats. Very strong, and may be depended upon for service over many seasons with only a minimum of attention and expense. Has been subjected to strenuous tests, and built to withstand more abuse than most boats ever have occasion to take

POTHEADS

G & W

G & W potheads use the highest grade of materials made by skilled workmen and experienced engineers. They have unusually high factors of safety, generous clearances, liberal design and accurate fit of separate parts. Inherently designed to retain cable oils under pressure. The numerous cap screws carefully machined flanged joints and the G & W Resistoyl gaskets insure a positive oil seal

G & W engineers developed the various special pothead shapes which solve many cable training problems. Further, they standardized different styles of lugs for aerial connections which often simplify problems of bussing and banking.

The wide variety of shapes and sizes available enables us to furnish potheads for any special condition. Any special shape pothead is adapted to standard cable entrances and porcelains. We shall be pleased to supply you with detailed information on design or insulation.

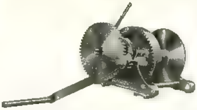
HAND DRUM HOISTS

BEEBE ALL STEEL



5 Ton, General Utility

For contractors, truck, hand derricks, gin poles, jib cranes, wrecking, loading, moving and installation of heavy machinery and boilers; tank erection, pipe line, bridge, timber and rock work, land clearing, etc.

Eight parts, all of high grade electric steel, machined and assembled into a compact, powerful, 2 speed hand hoist. Internal gear and 2 in. diameter drum shafts are part of the drum. External gear, internal brake drum, drive shaft and internal pinion are also one piece of steel. The 3 7/16 in drive shaft is carried by a wide babbitted bearing in the main steel side frame. All bearings are heavy duty anti-friction babbitt bearings, compress rolled and burnished to exact size, and machined parts finished to precision dimensions. Internal gear main drive minimizes friction.

Crank pinion and shaft are one piece of steel, attached to a steel handle, instantly adjustable from 10 to 18 in length, allowing maximum cranking speed. A socket in the center of the external gear, shaped to fit the pinion, acts as receiving connection for the handle when crank pinion is inserted, giving a 4 to 1 cranking ratio for handling loads up to 1500 pounds. By inserting pinion shaft, which is integral with pinion, into the bearing provided in the side frame, the pinion functions as an operating gear, meshing with the teeth of external gear and thus provides a compound gear ratio of 24 to 1 for loads up to five tons.

Positive internal cam action brake is lined with high grade wire inserted brake lining. Spring operated onto external gear, assures excessive holding safety.

Weatherproof red enameled.

Exact duplicate, excepting dimensions and capacity, of 5-Ton described above, adaptable to the same entire range of hand hoist uses. Handle length adjusts 6 in. to 14 in.

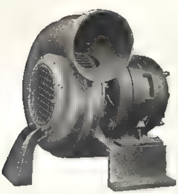
ⓕMINE AND TUNNEL VENTILATING SETS

SIROCCO



These portable ventilating sets are much used for secondary ventilation in coal and metal mines. The blower is placed in any convenient location, far enough away from the working faces, so that it will not interfere with the operations, or be damaged by blasts. Metal piping or "Ventube" fabric tubing is attached to the blower outlet and run to the point where ventilation is required

By blowing the smoke and gases away from the working faces after blasting operations, these blowers allow the men to return to their work much more quickly. They also provide a more comfortable atmosphere for the workmen by supplying a continuous flood of fresh air at all times.

Sirocco mine and tunnel ventilating sets are equipped with either direct current or polyphase alternating current motors. All motors are ball bearing and are built to withstand the damp corrosive atmosphere frequently encountered in mines Starters are included with all direct current motors, and with size 4A alternating current motors.

Since these sets are made with cast iron housings, they are especially adapted to mine work, where elements injurious to steel plates are often present.

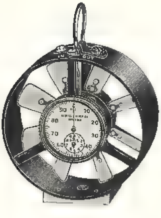
ⓕANEMOMETERS

K & E BIRAM



Used for the measurement of the velocity of air currents in mines, tunnels, sewers, public buildings, hospitals, schools, etc.

Important mechanical improvements include the zero setting arrangement which does away with the necessity of taking a previous reading into consideration and lessens the liability of error, this is instantaneously done by simply pushing a lever. By the operation of another lever, known as the disconnector, the movement of the registering hands can be stopped at any point.

These instruments have jewel bearings and are calibrated by direct methods and not by comparison.

Readings are by one foot intervals. For measuring air velocities between 200 and 2000 feet per minute

ELECTRODE HOLDERS

G-E EUREKA TYPE

With Solder Cable Connection

The tremendous pressure exerted by the special drop-forged, heat-treated steel jaws of this holder assures excellent electrical contact with the electrode, a feature which reduces contact resistance and keeps the holder cooler. The jaws are brazed to the cable connection. This assures perfect conductivity and avoids the need for threaded joints. A slight pressure on the trigger drops the electrode stub. The square heat shield and thorough insulation prevent grounding of both the holder and the electrode when they are laid down on the work

GAS TANKS

PREST-O-LITE

No. B No. MC

Steel cylinders charged with pure, dry acetylene which is ready for instant use at the turn of a valve. These small tanks contain no free acetylene. They are packed with a porous filler, which is saturated with a liquid chemical, capable of absorbing many times its own volume of acetylene. The acetylene in the tank is dissolved in this liquid solvent and remains in solution until valve is opened, which permits acetylene to be drawn off. Flow of acetylene is controlled by a key operated valve and can be turned on and off with the same convenience as city gas—a gauge indicates what portion of the gas supply is left.. Prest-O-Lite gas is freezeproof, and can be used in any kind of weather, both indoors and outdoors—can be obtained at any of the hundreds of Prest-O-Lite Gas Exchange Service Stations throughout the U. S. and Canada. Any of these stations will exchange an empty Prest-O-Lite gas tank for a full one, and will charge for the gas only.

WELDING GOGGLES

DOCKSON MONELITE CUP TYPE

50MM

A 50MM goggle with reinforced plastic construction that successfully overcomes every objection inherently common to molded goggles. Enthusiastic worker acceptance is assured by the increased comfort, appearance and utility. A complete selection of lenses for every hazard or requirement.

By casting plastic material around an accurately formed, perforated monel skeleton, a stronger, lighter, more ductile and less bulky product is secured. Generous, unrestricted screened air vents adjacent to the nose and in the usual outside position, an entirely new feature in cup type goggle construction, provide cooling cross ventilation and permit a wide range of vision. The quickly adjustable nose bridge and anatomically correct right and left eye cups make necessary a very minimum of tension on the new time and oil resisting rubber compound head band that assures correct positioning.

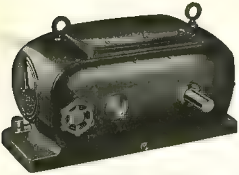
ⓕP. I. V. GEAR SPEED REDUCERS

LINK-BELT



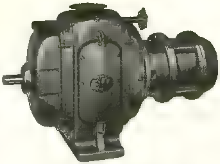
Horizontal Type (Basic Unit)

A Positive, Infinitely Variable Speed Transmission

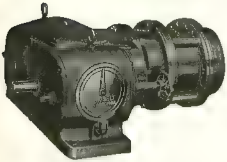
Positive variable speed control within a maximum variation of 6:1, for up to 15 horsepower, is provided by the all-metal, fully enclosed, anti-friction bearing equipped P. I. V. gear unit. Any intermediate speed is instantly obtainable, while the unit is operating, by means of an accessible hand wheel, a lever or automatic or remote control.

The chain used in the unit consists of steel laminations which slide back and forth in assembled packs, adjusting themselves to engagement with the radially-cut teeth of opposing conical wheels, each pair of which becomes an adjustable-diameter wheel. Thus as the driver wheels are forced together, the driven wheels automatically separate and vice versa, causing the change in diameters, thus the change in speed.

Made for either vertical or horizontal mounting and furnished with or without inbuilt helical gear reduction sets on output shaft or both input and output shafts, motorized or without motor.



Vertical Motorized Type with Output, Helical Gear Set



Horizontal Motorized Type

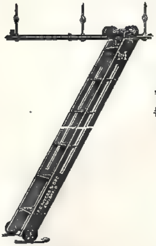
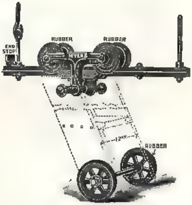
STORE LADDERS

MYERS CUSHION TIRE



General view.



View showing details.

Requires no more space than that of a ladder facing the shelving, in addition it makes all shelves clear to the ceiling easily accessible. Noiseless, safe, light running, neat and strong, nicely finished.

The construction of the Myer's Cushion Tire Noiseless Store Ladder is such as to insure ease and safety in ascending and descending, and especially so when goods are being handled as both hands are free to remove or place stock on the shelves.

The ladder is constructed of the best clear Georgia Pine, nicely finished, filled and varnished. It has open panel sides which afford a convenient hand hold and add to the appearance of the ladder.

The steps have a 5½ in. tread and are placed every 12 inches. They are securely connected to the sides of the ladder by means of a patented Dowel Tee.

The track is double angle steel rail, very neat and strong and is suspended from the ceiling by means of lag screws, either jointed or rigid or by flanged plates and wood screws. By this means the track is placed close to the ceiling and can be leveled on an uneven ceiling with the least trouble and without any bridging or blocking.

The trolley is malleable iron, self-adjusting and is fitted with turned steel bearings. It is equipped with 3⅛ inch anti rattler wheels turned and bored on lathe and fitted with special vulcanized rubber tires.

The floor travelers are 5 in. in diameter composed of metal sides with rubber cushion tires clamped in such a position as to be impossible to get off or come loose. The wheels are placed on a steel axle.

Ball Bearing

Five tool steel blades, heat treated and oil tempered, double riveted to steel spiders electrically welded to a ¾ in. cold rolled shaft, making rigid truss formation that can not be bent or deformed. New Departure annular grease packed bearing having ground and polished races and grade "A" alloy steel balls protected by a double dust seal. CANE MILLS

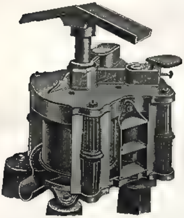
WESTERN



Built for grinding light tropical or sorghum cane. Wide face gears are cast separate from the rolls. Heavy clutches on the gears drive the rolls. Feed box is reversible so that the mill may be fed from either side. Gearing is entirely encased by flange on top plate protecting the operator and preventing clogging.

All shaft journals run in brass bearings which are readily oiled from the top while the mill is in operation. All shafts are large diameter steel, with machined bearings. Main rolls are flanged, top and bottom. Feed box allows full length of the roll to be used. Rolls have serrated faces, and are adjusted by heavy, steel adjusting screws.

All parts are extra heavy semi steel, except the rolls which are of open grain gray iron that will not wear smooth. Double slant sweep cap.

Complete with sweep and foundation bolts, oil can and wrench.

DIRECTIONS FOR ERECTING MYERS' PATENT STEEL TRACK

Scaffold by placing ropes from rafter to rafter, say 6 feet from ridge pole or peak and about 10 feet apart. Then place extension ladder across the ropes with board to stand on. Now nail one rafter bracket temporarily at each end of barn and drawn a line from one end to the other and stretch tight.

Then nail all rafter brackets even with this line. You are now ready to put up the track, which can be done in sections. Hoist near to rafter brackets by ropes. Then place hanging hook over rafter bracket and down through track, attach lower clamp and tighten lock nut.

For a 70 Foot Barn—One Hay Unloader. 66 ft. of Track. 34 Hanging Hooks. 3½ lbs. Bracket Nails. 5 Fig. 1120 Pulleys. 1 Fork or 3 Slings 6 Floor Hooks. 190 ft. ¾ in. Draft Rope. 70 ft. ⅜ in. Trip Rope. 70 ft. ⅜ in Reverse Rope.

For an 80 Foot Barn—One Hay Unloader 78 ft. of Track 40 Hanging Hooks. 40 Rafter Brackets. 4 lbs. Bracket Nails. 5 Fig. 1120 Pulleys. 1 Fork or 3 Slings. 6 Floor Hooks. 210 ft. ¾ in. Draft Rope 80 ft. ⅜ in. Trip Rope. 80 ft. ⅜ in. Reverse Rope.

Different lengths of barns will use track, hanging hook and rope in same ratio as above.

If required to take hay in at end of barn and have rope pass down at far end to horse, same amount of draft rope. If draft rope be returned to same end of barn and then down, this requires about one-fourth more draft rope.

How to Reverse Carrier—Set fork in hay. Tie ends of rope together, to which horse and weight are attached. Pull on small rope until knot comes to the floor, then untie ropes. Fasten weight G on small rope, change pulley A to floor hook H. This reverses carrier for opposite direction without leaving the floor or climbing up. Use all knot passing pulleys. For taking in hay at end of barn use V shaped brace for track support, as shown in cut.

POLLOCK AND MACKEREL OFFER SPORT

While the average man who fishes for pollock does so as a deep sea commercial fishing proposition, in the past few years there has developed a class of sportsmen who go after them with light tackle.

Before the days of the seiner, most of the mackerel caught each year were taken on hand lines. Each man would use two lines. As a rule they used no bait. Instead they fished with what was known as a mackerel jig, a hook set in a lead sinker, the glitter of which attracted the fish.

Anglers looking for sport, learning about this, have tried going after these fish with light tackle, using a spoon hook and flies with excellent results. They found that an average sized mackerel on a light rod gave them a bang-up battle, with the result that once the word goes forth that mackerel are schooling along the coast the sportsmen are out for them.

Cumberland County

By HENRY S. BEVERAGE

Within the boundaries of Cumberland County's 853 square miles can be found nearly every attraction the vacationist in Maine might desire. Here, on one hand, are shelving white sand beaches for sun and sea bathing, interspersed by rocky headlands over which flow the cool sea breezes from the Atlantic Ocean, yet a half hour's drive from the coast will quickly change the scenery to thousand acre forests. Here, in Portland, Maine's metropolis, will be found the largest shopping center east of Boston, yet a drive of only a few miles brings one to a typical cross roads country store. And here, in Cumberland County, is the widest variety of accommodations to be found in Maine, including modern commercial and resort hotels, coastal, island, and inland guest homes, lake and sea-shore camp and cottage colonies, country boarding houses and over-night camps.

There is fishing in Cumberland County to delight the heart of any angler whether he seeks the largest game fish of them all, the giant tuna, or the trout, landlocked salmon and bass of the inland lakes and streams.

There are numerous golf courses where the visitor is always welcome; there are courts for the tennis enthusiast; there are bridal trails; lake and ocean cruises and trips for deep sea fishing can be arranged on short notice; camp sites are scattered throughout the county, canoe trips are numerous and even mountain climbing, in a modified form, is available for devotees of hiking.

To be more specific, consider Portland: A sea-coast city of 70,000 inhabitants, a vacation center, the central point of many attractions including day trips to nearby lakes, the Casco Bay islands, coastal communities and several beaches. Here is a cosmopolitan city built on a high peninsula less than a mile wide, nearly surrounded by water, swept by cool sea breezes, and bathed in sparkling clear sunshine; a city alive with gay summer throngs.

Fine public buildings distinguish the City of Portland. Excellent hotels, comfortable tourist homes, splendid restaurants featuring Maine shore dinners, large department stores and specialty shops, good banking facilities, theatres, libraries, churches, art, historical and natural history museums. The city maintains a fine municipal golf course, tennis and horseshoe courts, bowling on the green, and a splendid public beach for salt water bathing.

Of particular interest is the birthplace of the poet, Longfellow. Also Portland City Hall where summer concerts are given on the Municipal organ, a gift to his native city from the late Cyrus H. K. Curtis.

Hancock County

By W. H. TITUS

Hancock County is unique, in that it offers to the nature lover not only the lakes and forests common throughout Maine, but a rare combination of mountain and ocean scenery. The mountains of Mount Desert Island are the highest points of land on the entire Atlantic seaboard of the United States.

To the natural scenic beauty of this region, man has added his skill and art and labor. Hard-surfaced roads of easy grade climb to the top of Cadillac Mountain, or skirt the rock-bound shores past such natural wonders as "Thunder Hole" and "Spouting Horn," where the full majesty of the ocean awes one after a storm. These roads, some of which opened for the first time in 1940, have been laid out by engineers with considerable thought towards emphasizing the natural beauties of the region. They unfold a constantly changing panorama of lakes, forests, ocean and mountains, every turn presenting new vistas that surprise and entrance.

Hancock County is reached by two main highways—U. S. Route 1, by way of Bangor, or by Route 1A—a cut-off route, forking from Route 1 at Stockton Springs, crossing the Penobscot River by the magnificent new Waldo-Hancock Bridge, thence across the county to Ellsworth, where it again joins Route 1 for the shore route "down east" to Washington County.

Entering Hancock County by way of the Waldo-Hancock Bridge, right at the threshold, is Bucksport, home of "Jed Prouty Tavern," made famous by the popular play, "Old Jed Prouty" of a few decades ago. It is now known by the more prosaic name of Robinson House, but it is still the same old "Tavern" and its doors have never closed to guests since the days of "Jed Prouty." Famous names are on its old registers—Martin Van Buren, General Jackson, William Henry Harrison, John Tyler, and many of more recent history. In Bucksport, too, is one of Maine's largest newsprint mills, open to visitors.

The route continues across the county, through Orland, where a short side trip may be taken to a Federal Government fish hatchery where trout and salmon are reared—to Ellsworth, shire town and trading center of the county. Ellsworth's Main Street was practically wiped out by fire only seven years ago. Now to the tourist, after driving through many typical "Main Streets" it suddenly appears as a small edition of a metropolitan shopping district. Ellsworth has profited from disaster, and in rebuilding, provided commodious free parking areas close to the business section.

In Ellsworth is the famous Black Mansion, built

ELLSWORTH At the Crossroads Down East

VACATION LODGE

Entering Hancock County by either the Bucksport Bridge or by way of Bangor, the roads cross here for the shore route Down East (Route 1) or Bar Harbor (Route 3)

Ellsworth invites you to make this your home while you visit the most beautiful county in Maine. Hotels, over-night cabins, and many delightful tourist homes, at moderate rates. At the centrally-located information bureau, day-time trips to new scenes, new beauties, will be planned for you each day. Acadia National Park and Bar Harbor are less than an hour away. Many lakes provide good fishing.

Ellsworth is the home of the Black House - 150-year old mansion with original furnishings, now open as a public museum.

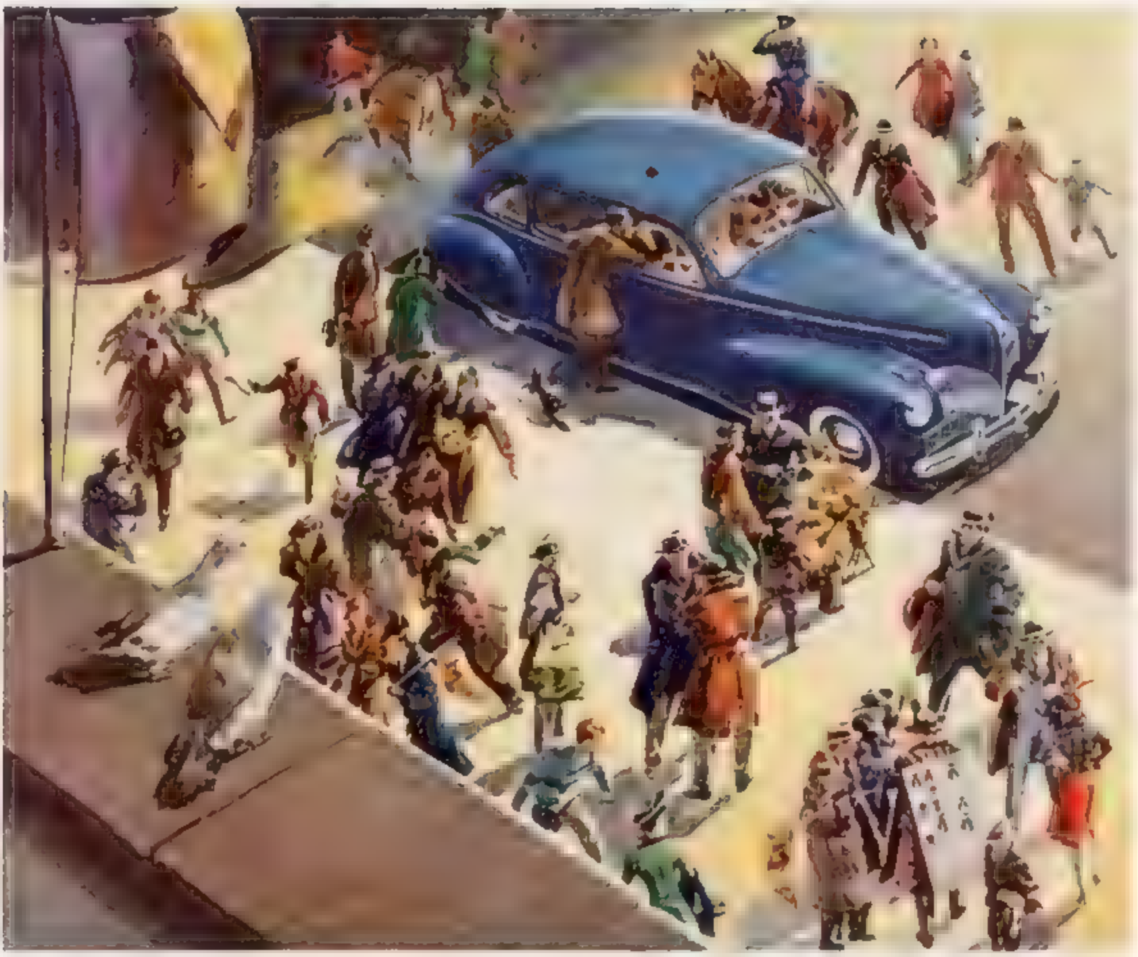
Inland in Cumberland County one finds the famous Sebago Lake region; nearly a score of other lakes and ponds; the quiet surroundings of numerous rural communities and several lively summer resort towns.

Sebago, second largest lake in Maine, is the habitat of fighting landlocked salmon, square-tail trout, black bass and numerous other fresh water species and affords excellent fishing from Spring to Fall. Accommodations around the lake and in the bordering towns of Windham, Raymond, South Casco, Sebago and Standish, are varied and inviting, ranging all the way from over-night camps to exclusive lake shore resorts. Boats and guides are available for one day visitors as well as for those who stay for longer periods.

At the head of Sebago and at the foot of another large inland body, Long Lake, is Naples, widely popular summer playground in the center of an extensive boys' and girls' summer camp area, supporting several fine hotels and guest homes.

A few miles from Naples in the Long Lake section is Harrison, also a popular spot for the vacationist with excellent and varied accommodations, while Bridgton, in the foothills of the White Mountains, is an attractive community that is becoming as well known to winter sports enthusiasts as it has long been to summer visitors.

Among other well known and equally inviting towns are Baldwin, Steep Falls, Cumberland, Cornish, Gorham, Otisfield, Casco, and Pownal, rural communities



FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

WHEN the stadiums throb with color and cheers and hushed hymns to Alma Mater—when the old grads return to relive memories and renew their youth—you'll find these lithe, lean Lincoln-Zephyrs streaking through the brown countryside.

Go wherever America's at play and you'll see them flashing in from every point on the compass. That's because these sleek, powerful thoroughbreds—packed with hair-trigger "get-up-and-go"—are youth's dream of what a perfectly poised and appointed fine car should look like, be, and do. And that goes also for every man Jack who dares never to grow old; for this is the car Ponce de Leon would choose—youthful, rugged, able, yacht-smart in all details, with a he-car capacity to go places and do things.

There's a new thrill awaiting you in the Zephyr glider ride! These great cars are built for fairly gliding over the roughest roads. You relax in unprecedented comfort and luxury, hammocked gently amidships on Lincoln-Zephyr's soft, slow-motion springs and enjoy a ride as thrilling, swift and quiet as a glider's flight—yet safe as your favorite armchair. You'll learn what it means to command the smooth power of 12 eager cylinders, so spirited, yet so nimble and obedient that control is almost effortless.

Created by Lincoln engineers and built to watch-like nicety in the renowned Lincoln precision plant, these 1941 Lincoln-Zephyrs are different in motor . . . different in basic design . . . different in construction. And they are becoming known everywhere for their astonishing economy.

Sometime soon, why not discover for yourself why we believe the Lincoln-Zephyr offers you more fun per gallon than any other type of car? Maybe you've been missing something!

The Plight of the Last Censor

BY GEORGE CREEL

Knox County

By LENORE W. BENNER

Knox County beautifully situated on Penobscot Bay possesses the unusual happy combination of mountains, lakes and sea in a constantly changing panorama.

Warren is a fine farming region, and here is located the Knox Arboretum with its 10,000 lots of sea shells, marine specimens, minerals, fossils, marine animals, a museum of art and science, open to the public.

Thomaston is noted historically as the home of General Henry Knox, Washington's chief of staff and the beautiful Montpelier, replica of the General Knox Mansion. In Thomaston one may find many examples of lovely Colonial homes and doorways.

Cushing has many interesting Indian relics and fine summer cottages and the "Valley of Mystery." Along the banks of the Georges River are the building ruins of which nothing is known.

St. George, which embraces the towns of Tenant's Harbor and Port Clyde, all quaint fishing villages, is a delightful section, and also boasts many summer homes.

Rockland, the shire town of Knox County is ideally located on Penobscot Bay. It is noted for its limestone quarries, one of them being the deepest in the world and its ocean trial course, over which ships of the U. S. Navy are tested for speed. From Rockland many boat trips may be taken to the myriads of enchanting islands in the bay. It also has a fine Public Landing and harbor for yachts protected by a mile-long breakwater.

Rockport has an exclusive summer residential section, among which are the estates of Mary Curtis Bok, the late Cyrus H. K. Curtis and many others. Mrs. Bok restored Rockport's waterfront to much of its natural beauty.

Camden, where the mountains meet the sea and look down on fir-bordered lakes, has long been famed for its scenery in summer and in recent years has seen members of its fashionable summer colony establish year round homes, since its winter attractions have become known through its interesting Snow Bowl winter sports area. Camden is also noted for its flower baskets which decorate the lamp-posts in the business section, and for the beautiful Bok Amphitheatre.

Owl's Head offers bathing beaches, salt water fishing, and many delightful inns by the sea. A lighthouse built in 1826 may also be visited.

In that portion of Old Town known as Stillwater is a "double-barrelled" covered bridge, a hundred years old, with two roadways for north and south traffic, separated by trusses and believed to be the last "double-barrel" bridge in this state.

North of Old Town the towns of Milford, Costigan, Greenbush, Olamon, Enfield, and Lincoln lead to many fishing waters and big game sections.

North of East Enfield one reaches South Branch Lake at Seboeis, regarded by many as producing some of the largest small-mouth black bass in the State and also offering satisfactory river and stream as well as lake fishing for those hard biting, never-say-die fighters of the finny tribe.

At Lincoln a highway runs to Vanceboro on the border of the Province of New Brunswick, through Lee, Springfield, Carroll and Topsfield and crossed by many streams and bordering lakes of more than passing interest to the angler and with inspiring scenic beauty along the way.

To reach Sysladobsis Lake, (usually called Lower Dobsis) one leaves the main highway at Springfield and motors south over a good secondary road to the shores of the lake. It is the center of a wild lake country, parts of which will be found in three counties making possible canoeing trips of unusual interest with salmon, trout, togue and pickerel fishing and fine camping places.

Winn and Mattawamkeag are gateways to some of the best bass and trout fishing waterways in the State.

TUNA FISHING

Anglers have found that there is an abundance of game fish and excitement to catch them in the salt water along the coast of Maine. Casco Bay and particularly off Bailey Island and the waters in the vicinity of Kennebunkport and Ogunquit have gained a reputation in recent seasons for their tuna fishing. Species of this fish taken along the Maine coast by sportsmen have ranged in weight from 75 to 800 pounds. Until the past three years it is probably true that the greater number of these fish which have been taken were harpooned rather than landed with rod, reel and line. This because of the fact that it was only realized recently that the "hoss mackerel" of the North Atlantic was the same as the tuna of the Pacific and that it could be taken on rod and line and this method of fishing for tuna is now largely employed by visiting sportsmen with satisfactory results.

SEA BASS COMING BACK

There has been a definite indication that sea bass were coming back to Maine rivers during the past three years. A number of specimens of this fish have been taken near the mouths of the Kennebec, Mousam,

DAMARISCOTTA

Bracing Tonic for Vacationers Everywhere

Picturesque Damariscotta on Route 1 is compounded of just the right amount of rural charm and modernity. In this quaint sea-faring town, but a stone's throw from its busy Main Street, flows the winding tree-lined Damariscotta River. Beyond, are fragrant, eye-filling expanses of forest and meadow, lake and pool.

Damariscotta is a genial host to every vacationer, the fisherman, golfer, lover of delectable sea-food, or the seeker after rest.

On July 30, 1941 Damariscotta will observe Open House Day, inviting access to the interesting Colonial homes in the region.

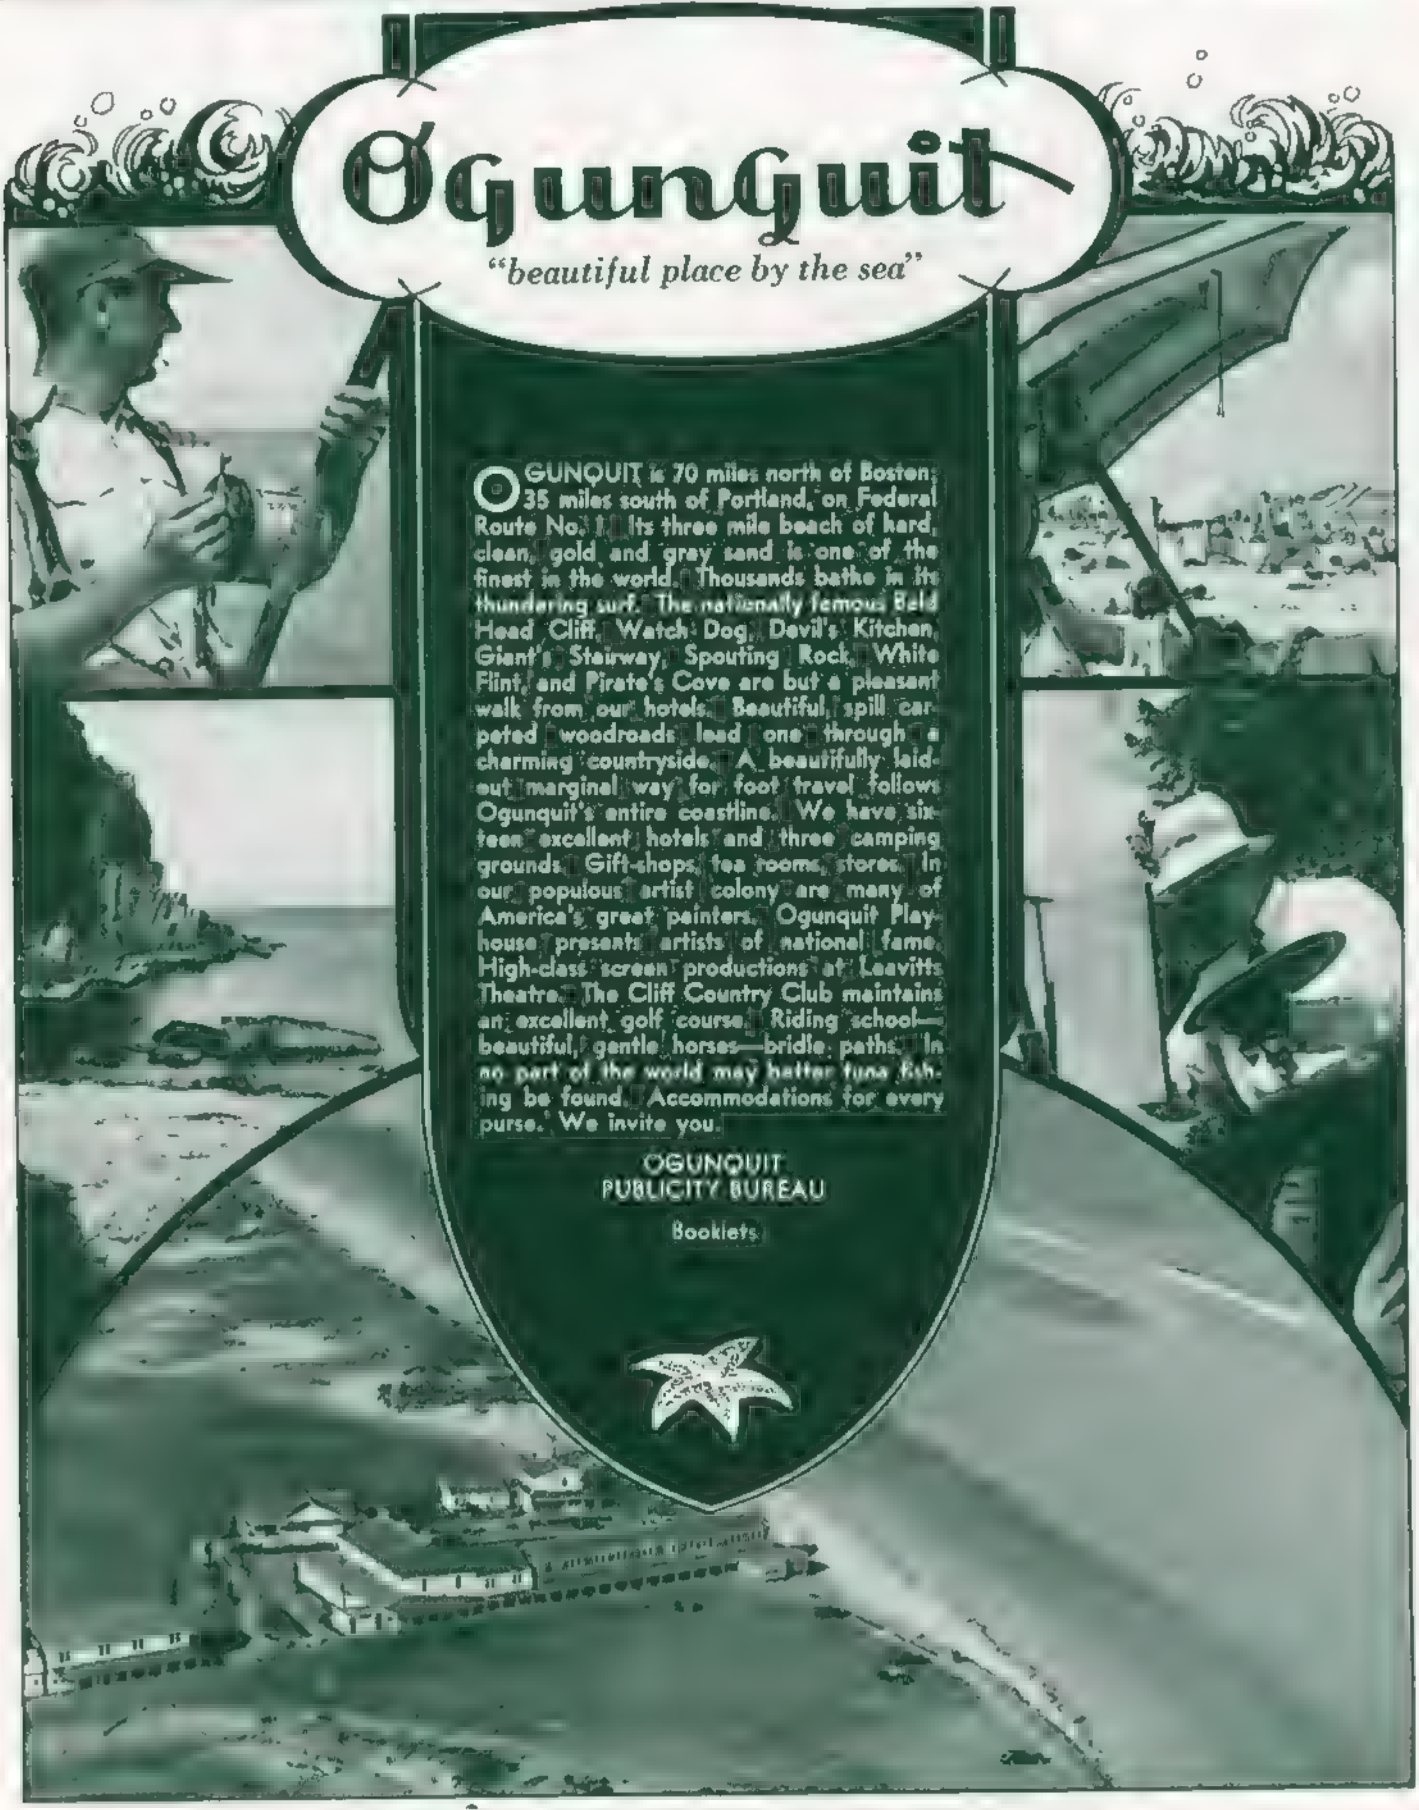
with priceless antiques and meet hostesses gowned as Colonial dames. The old stone jail and handsome old Court House have been in constant use since Wiscasset succeeded Pownalborough as the shire town of the county.

Driving across the long bridge over the Sheepscot River and into Edgecomb, one passes the Marie Antoinette house which the royal personage for whom it was planned and built in Westport, never occupied. Near by, Fort Edgecomb, the block house, built to protect the harbor in 1812 is a picturesque example of early fortifications.

Lincoln County has not only its grand coast line with deep Atlantic waters washing its shores, but several charming small lakes within its borders, with appealing cottages available along the shores. Queen among them all, big Damariscotta Lake attracts more and more people every year, and is becoming widely known for its splendid sporting camps and camps for boys and girls patronized by groups from many states. These camps have made the towns of Jefferson and Nobleboro widely known.

In the little town of Bremen one may salute Commodore Tucker in marble, standing above his grave. Then visit the Audubon Nature Camp on Hog Island, where people from all over the United States come to study at the Todd Wild Life Sanctuary. The National Audubon Society is here engaged in a program for the preservation of wild life.

Several ancient churches make Lincoln County outstanding. The Walpole meeting house, built in 1772, is the oldest church in Maine and has special seats reserved for slaves. The Old Alna Church, 1789, stored ammunition within its walls, and has a beautiful interior. In Waldoboro the historic German Church has its "silent city" close to its walls. St. Patrick's at Damariscotta Mills is the oldest Catholic Church in New England.



Ogunquit

"beautiful place by the sea"

OGUNQUIT is 70 miles north of Boston; 35 miles south of Portland, on Federal Route No. 1. Its three mile beach of hard, clean, gold and grey sand is one of the finest in the world. Thousands bathe in its thundering surf. The nationally famous Bald Head Cliff, Watch Dog, Devil's Kitchen, Giant's Stairway, Spouting Rock, White Flint, and Pirate's Cove are but a pleasant walk from our hotels. Beautiful, spill carpeted woodroads lead one through a charming countryside. A beautifully laid-out marginal way for foot travel follows Ogunquit's entire coastline. We have sixteen excellent hotels and three camping grounds. Gift-shops, tea rooms, stores. In our populous artist colony are many of America's great painters. Ogunquit Playhouse presents artists of national fame. High-class screen productions at Leavitts Theatre. The Cliff Country Club maintains an excellent golf course. Riding school—beautiful, gentle horses—bridle paths. In no part of the world may better tuna fishing be found. Accommodations for every purse. We invite you.

Oxford County

By EVERETT MARTIN

Few parts of New England of like area offer a greater diversity of attractions to the vacationists and sportsmen than Oxford County with its famous hills, sparkling streams, sky blue lakes, and snug villages; all easily accessible by rail and good highways.

The year round there are sports of one sort or another—hunting, fishing, hiking, mountain climbing, riding, swimming, boating, canoe trips and golf, tennis, skeet and trap shooting and winter sports to mention a few; and the pure air, laden with the scent of balsam fire, spruce, and pine, is always a tonic for the weary city dweller seeking only rest and health.

The southern portion of the county is composed of wide intervale lands dotted with rolling hills stretching away into the foothills of the White Mountains. This famous range is reached by a trunk highway through Fryeburg, where years ago Captain Lovewell fought his famous battle with the Indians on the shores of the pond now bearing his name and the subject of the first poem written by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Here are winding lazy rivers, ideal for canoeing, with fine bass fishing in Lovewell's Pond; in Kezar Lake in the towns of Lovell and Center Lovell, which also offers some of the finest salmon fishing in the section; while in Waterford, where Artemus Ward, one of America's famous humorists, lived and is buried, bass of large size abound in Lake Keoka. Lake Keewaydin in Stoneham is also a salmon lake.

In the central portion of the county are Songo Pond at Bethel in the region once terrorized by the Indian raids of Tom Hegan; Twitchell Pond, North Pond and Lake Christopher in the Locke Mills-Bryant Pond region, and Lake Pennesseewassee in Norway, all of which offer bass fishing. Lake Thompson at Oxford lies partly in the county. Near the eastern border of the county at Canton is found the scene of an annual bass fishing tournament, the Mecca of many sportsmen.

Oxford County is divided in the middle by the beautiful Androscoggin River, which flows through Bethel, Rumford, Dixfield and Peru on its way to the sea. Along its banks are some of the most beautiful scenic drives in the state, particularly that from Bethel to Rumford.

Paris made up of South Paris, West Paris and Paris Hill with many marvelous old homes is the shiretown of the county. The birthplace at Paris Hill of Hannibal Hamlin, Vice-President of the United States with the martyred Abraham Lincoln, is where the original settlement was made.

ICE YACHTS BATTLE HIGH WINDS

▶ Plagued by westerly gales and snowstorms, the Eastern Ice Y.A. 1941 regatta was postponed until six full weeks had elapsed between the first race, on January 11th, and the final, on February 16th. A special invitation event for stern-steering yachts only, sponsored by the Business Men's Association of Netcong, was not run off until March 2nd.

This year's regatta was featured by the presence of the South Bay scooters and their salty crews. The clever tacking, reaching and running done by these entirely rudderless craft was a source of constant amazement, and drew more than one compliment to the skill of their crews. Furthermore, the rigs of these 1941 Scooters have outdistanced even the modern ice boat in mast-sail efficiency. They used a sail completely enveloping the mast, hoisted by being zipped onto the spar.

In the ice boat contingent, two new developments were in evidence, both in Class D. Ott Loree, of Greenwood Lake, brought two sister ships to the races, designed and built by himself, one for his own use and one for Don Tyler, of Lake Hopatcong. The new Loree boats are beautifully streamlined bow-steerers, a full 24 feet long, with lots of height to the rig, and a short boom. Dave Shannon, of the Lakeside Club, designed, built and sailed a new "D" boat, though more heavy and husky-looking than the Loree boats, she turned in a fine performance.

The second development mentioned was variously called "The Flying Wing," the Vector (her actual name), and "That Thing he Gets Inside Of — you know — that Wing Thing." Designed and built by James L. Finch, of the South Bay Scooter Club, Vector is a most ingenious affair, consisting mostly of a vertical airfoil "sail" of doped fabric over frames, with a transparent fore edge through which her pilot scans the horizon from his completely sheltered seat within

Ray Hand

Her runners look like ice boat runners but show remarkable properties, for they pivot horizontally as well as vertically, and she runs along sidling coyly sidewise.

The persistent westerly gales took heavy toll of spars, sails, rigging and even runners, but more serious mishaps were fortunately avoided with but one exception. H. Walden Smith, of Lakeside, took a nasty spill while driving Billy Smith's Hot Toddy II in the first heat of Class C. The big Palmer-built bow-steerer capsized and carried away her hollow spar, letting the hull drop on top of her driver. Smith suffered torn chest muscles and cartilage but escaped serious injury and walked off the ice "under his own power."

Herb Edwards, regatta committee chairman, got things started immediately after lunch on Saturday, January 11th, when he sent three of the big scooters away on their first heat. All races were run the same distance, ten miles, around a 2½-mile triangular course. The big scooters sailed three close heats, William Harless's Big Scoot finally nosing out Ida II and Friday 13th for first honors. Harless then repeated in the small scooter class with Little Scoot.

The Class E (75 sq. ft.) ice boats put on their usual red hot racing, and sundown of the first day found a tie for first place on points between H. Walden Smith's Whistling Wind II, of Lakeside, and Buckaroo, of Monmouth, sailed by Bob Wilcox. Each had a first and a third. Phil Haebler's Allez-Oop, 1940 Class E and Open Champion, got a bad start in heat 1 and took a fifth. She came back strong in the next heat, placing second to Buckaroo by only a few feet. Smith's Hot Toddy was the fourth real contender, with a second and a fourth place in the first two heats to place her one point ahead of Allez-Oop and only two points behind the deadlocked leaders. The final heat, sailed on Sunday, was taken by Whistling Wind II, giving Walden Smith his second E.I.Y.A. title. Buckaroo took a fourth in this heat but saved second place by one point over Allez-Oop and Hot Toddy, which wound up in a tie. Closer racing than this is hard to imagine.

Class D, 125 square feet, came into its own this year, with eight starters as against three in '39 and two in '40. Of the eight, Shirley Howland's Icicle, of the Monmouth I.Y.C., '39 and '40 champion of the class, was the only repeater. As mentioned before, there were three fine new bow-steerers; Ott Loree's Doss, Don Tyler's Gangway II and Dave Shannon's Corky. Bob Wilcox's Dotty, which sailed in Class C at Red Bank last year, started as a "D" boat this year. These, with Vector and a couple of other boats, made up the starting fleet.

Doss won all three heats but Corky gave her a real run all the way, and looked like a winner in the third heat until she peeled off a runner-shoe in the final heat.

Class C, 175 square feet, the largest class in both '39 and '40, mustered nine boats this year. Three familiar boats made up the bow-steering entries: Ray Ruge's Charette II, from the Hudson Highlands Iceboat Club, '39 and '40 champion; Rumson Commodore L. C. Fiedler's Lingwes, sailed by Dick Moeller; and Billy Smith's Hot Toddy II, also of Rumson, sailed by Walden Smith. Charette II is a home-designed and home-built boat. Of the six stern-steerers, the two new boats, Henry Minniboo's Mimi II and Phil Summerville's Aloha consistently outdistanced the older boats, Don Assy's Teal II, Jesse Howland's Sleet II, Milt Hoyt's Frosty and Harry Isaacs' No Name, whose light hulls and rigs were at a disadvantage in the wild going.

The James Craig Perpetual Trophy for motor cruiser races of at least 100 miles in open water will be competed for in California on May 30th

Charette II took the first two heats, trailed by Aloha and Mimi II. Hot Toddy II's crack-up in the first heat and a broken runner by Lingwes in the second, forced out both. The final heat was sailed in a full gale, and all boats carried short rigs. Mimi II took this heat, Charette being content to finish in second place under a borrowed Class E sail, and thus win her third straight E.I.Y.A. Class C Championship with 26 points out of a possible 27. Mimi II took the H.H.I.C. Trophy for Class C stern-steerers.

Class B had four starters in the first heat: Homer Sieder's Swordfish, '40 champion; George Seger's Alva II, '39 champion; Ernst von Lengerke's Trudle III and R. Harbourt's Revel. Alva II broke a mast and Trudle III a shroud; Revel did not report damage but did not start the second heat. As a result, the dependable Swordfish repeated her 1940 victory.

Class X, with the largest boats that competed this year, had the smallest number of entries. Willi Schmitz's Blitzen, big bow-steerer from the Hudson Highlands Iceboat Club, 1919 champion, reappeared this year after not being on the ice since '39, and won the first two heats easily from H. Prescott Shreeve's Polaris, stern-steering 1940 winner. G. E. Emerson's Blizzard, Lake Hopatcong, did not sail the first heat, and finished last in the other two. The series looked like a walk-over for Blitzen until she snapped her mast in the last lap of the final heat, being unable to finish. Polaris took this heat and eked out a one-point victory.

The Open Championship, the "Race of Champions," was marred by the absence of Walden Smith, who did not sail his Class E winner Whistling Wind II because of his injury. The other four winners lined up in a half-gale after voting unanimously to shorten the three-race series to a single ten-mile heat. Swordfish tore her reefed mainsail within 100 feet of the start, and was hopelessly out of it. Doss and Charette II had a real tussle, but the larger and heavier Class C boat finally proved better able to take the terrific puffs and rough ice. She caught Doss at the five-mile mark, was again passed in the next mile, but recaptured the lead at about seven miles, drawing away steadily and finishing 27 seconds ahead.

Answers to "Information Please"

▶ In the March issue, we printed a number of questions asked at a meeting of the Corinthians. Here are the answers.

1. The tonnage shown on a vessel's certificate of registry is the contents of the interior of the hull expressed in tons of 100 cubic feet each. Gross tonnage is the entire contents; net tonnage, the contents after deductions have been made for machinery space, crew space, etc.

2. To bring a boat alongside a bulkhead in an onshore breeze, bend a hawser to the ring of the anchor for a spring. Run in to a position to windward of the bulkhead, let go anchor, lower sail and veer away on the chain and spring until the stern is almost in to the bulkhead; then make fast the spring and ease her in by veering the chain.

3. When a man falls overboard, throw him a life buoy and keep him in sight.

4. When you bring the hand lead on deck, first make the end of the line fast.

5. Deviation of the compass may be obtained by: time azimuths of the sun; bearings of distant objects, reciprocal bearings; bearings of ranges.

6. You can plot a three-point bearing from a pelorus without reference to a compass, using the angles between the bearings.

7. The difference between high water "stand," in which the water neither rises nor falls, and high water "slack," in which the current ceases to run, is caused by the hydrography of the district. Where the tide enters a large basin through a narrow channel, high water "stand" may occur near the entrance long before the basin is filled. "Stand" and "slack" may be three hours apart.

8. The height of a light as given on the chart is the height above mean high water.

9. Four factors which may vary the height of the tide are: barometric pressure, wind, positions of sun and moon; submarine earthquake.

BERKSHIRE'S ACTIONEZE

Berkshire proudly presents Actioneze, a beautifully sheer and clear three-thread 45 gauge pure silk crepetwist with two-way stretch elastic tops in place of the usual turned welts. This allows for an extra amount of stretch around the leg and at the same time the La-ce-lastic tops absorb the strain exerted when the knee is bent and by the pull of the garters. No more runners caused by too much garter-pulling or too much knee-bending. Actioneze is perfectly full fashioned, has all-silk foot with hidden silken reinforcements at heel and toe. Order by number listed at right below.

THEY LOOK BETTER—WEAR LONGER

The sheerer your hosiery, the more beautiful it is, but the more apt it is to run from the top caused by the strain of bending the knee or anchoring the girdle. It is only too true that runs will start when the tops are too tight! Berkshire has banished this trouble by banishing the strain on the silk. Instead, the strain is absorbed easily by the La-ce-lastic tops! The result is that Actioneze pure silk hosiery looks better and wears much longer. The tops allow the correct amount of stretch and tension without binding With Actioneze you are free to bend, stretch or stoop without the slightest possibility of a run starting from knee or garter strain. Actioneze is the perfect hose for sportswear, as well as for daytime and formal evening wear

ALL PURE SILK

Model 26-B power mower is built to the same specifications throughout as model 26-A illustrated and described above, with the exception of the engine equipment. The engine is Briggs & Stratton model B, four-cycle, rated at 2½ H.P

The riding sulky is of sturdy construction with wheels running on Hyatt roller bearings and equipped with Goodyear 12x3.50 in. pneumatic tires. Because of their size the tires will not press down the grass of the lawn.

HEIL DIG-N-CARRY TWIN-CABLE SCOOPS

Scientifically Designed for Faster Operation and Lower Upkeep Cost

Heil Twin-Cable Scoops are all-purpose tractor tools which dig, carry, spread and grade with equal efficiency, thus eliminating costly multiple handling of dirt and the extra equipment it requires. Designed for operation with any make of crawler-type tractor, these modern scrapers are scientifically designed to move more dirt per day at an absolute minimum cost per yard.

Simplified Control

A two-lever Double Drum Power Control Unit is mounted at the rear of the tractor, within easy reach of the operator. One cable raises and lowers the bowl by means of a sturdy box-section jack arm. Another cable actuates the front gate and the tilting floor for positive push-out of the load.

Low Cable Maintenance Cost

The leverage action used for raising the bowl and for ejecting the load reduces the number of sheaves and the length of cable necessary for speedy, efficient operation. The low cable pull necessary for operating Heil Twin-Cable Scoops, made possible by the use of the leverage principle, reduces cable wear, and insures lower cable replacement cost.

If you are interested in a Scraper which offers you extra yardage performance—easier loading faster, positive unloading and lower cable replacement costs, it will pay you to investigate Heil Twin-Cable Scoops, TODAY!

HEIL DIG-N-CARRY HYDRAULIC SCOOPS

Push the Tough Jobs Through on Schedule — And Make Money

The simple, dependable hydraulic system and fast, smooth operation of Heil Hydraulic Scoops have made them the standard of comparison for all other hydraulically operated scrapers. A rotary gear Heil pump mounted at the rear of the tractor furnishes hydraulic power for the three powerful Heil hoists which are used. One hoist opens and closes the front gate; another raises and lowers the bowl; and the third operates the rear push-out apron.

Extremely low working pressures account for the trouble-free operation of the Heil Dig-N-Carry hydraulic system. Other features of design include: (1) Dig and Spread Indicator which shows the operator the depth of the cut or the bowl clearance at all times. (2) Four booster springs at the rear of the scoop assist the hydraulic hoist to lift the bowl from the cut. (3) Semi-floating front gate gives high apron clearance for the spreading operation. (4) Rear apron moves forward to push out all dirt from the bowl, insuring positive ejection of the load.

HEIL HYDRAULIC TRAILBUILDERS

All-Round Tractor Tools for Clearing — Sloping—Grading

Powerful Heil Hydraulic Trailbuilders are ideal tractor tools for any number of short-haul earth-moving, clearing, or 'dozing jobs. Fingertip hydraulic control and positive down pressure on the blade enable Heil Trailbuilders to kick a ton of dirt all over the place or to scoop out a tree stump with the skill of an artisan. The blade can be angled to either side or set for head-on 'dozing easily and quickly.

A Heil Rotary Gear Pump furnishes hydraulic power to manipulate the blade in the up, down, float, or hold positions. Pump can be furnished for mounting at front or rear of tractor. (Rear mounted pump is standard). Large diameter hydraulic cylinders permit use of low hydraulic operating pressure, which prolongs the useful life of the pump, hose connections, and control mechanism.

HEIL HYDRAULIC BULLDOZERS

The Profitable Answer for Short-Haul Earth-Moving or 'Dozing Operations

Heil Hydraulic Trailbuilders are similar to Trailbuilders in operating principles, but the blade is fixed in the head-on position and cannot be angled to either side. A Trailbuilder blade and "A" frame are interchangeable with the bulldozer blade assembly, and can be bolted to the main frame box sections to convert the job in a few minutes.

POWER LAWN MOWERS

STEARNS

Every model is a thoroughly practical piece of equipment, easy to handle and simple to operate. No experience or skill is required

Maximum efficiency is assured because the cutting units have been specially designed and constructed to give the greatest service under the severe conditions to which a power driven machine is subjected, and because the engines are manufactured by Briggs & Stratton, the world's outstanding manufacturer of small gas engines.

No engineer nor mechanic is needed to operate these mowers. There are no complicated manipulations required and no gadgets to fuss with—just start the engine, throw in the clutch and cut the grass Bearing equipment at all points is the best obtainable. This consists of the well-known Hyatt roller bearings, Norma-Hoffman ball bearings, Timken tapered roller bearings and Bunting bronze bearings.

Tension adjustments are provided wherever necessary for the drive chains of all models. Slack may be taken up easily as the chain stretches through use This eliminates the troublesome removal of links to maintain proper chain tension.

Chrome alloy steel of heavy lipped edge section is used in the bed plate knives. Special high-carbon manganese steel is used for the cylinder knives. These steels are the best knife equipment obtainable because of their great hardness and toughness. The revolving cylinders are built with five knives riveted to heavy malleable iron spiders mounted on first quality steel shafts of high elastic limit

Disc clutches, positive in action but with easy, smooth engagement characteristics, insure entire freedom from turf marring and cutting by the drive wheels or rollers

Solid rubber tires are of heavy section and appropriate sizes on all wheel-drive models. On the roll-drive machines the drive rollers and caster wheels also are rubber covered.

Pneumatic tire equipment is available for all wheel-drive models at moderate additional cost. The tires are mounted on heavily cadmium plated pressed steel discs, which are attached to the special wheels with machine screws.

All wheel-drive models are designated by a model number, followed by the letters "ST" or "PT" to indicate solid tires or pneumatic tires.

The rear roller on all wheel-drive models is sectionalized to facilitate handling and turning the machine. It is reversible as to position to provide the distribution of weight between drive wheels and roller best suited to the nature of the ground being covered

The tubular steel handle on all power lawn mowers—excepting models 181, 218 and 421—folds to a vertical position to minimize the space required for storing the mower Its height is adjustable to suit the convenience of the operator and a simple locking device holds the handle in proper position when the machine is in operation

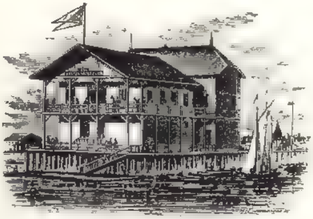
BOSTON YACHT CLUB ROUNDS OUT 75 YEARS

By

WILLIAM U. SWAN



ONE of the few yachting organizations on this side of the Atlantic to round out three-quarters of a century of pleasurable service is the Boston Yacht Club, whose present officers, somewhat skeptical of what next fall may bring, decided to celebrate the club's diamond jubilee on April 26th, several months in advance of the actual anniversary date. During its seventy-five years, the Boston Yacht Club has contributed liberally to the welfare and promotion of the sport and has maintained its leadership in encouraging competitive sailing, motor boat jaunts and club cruises and establishing educational evenings.

Its early years were along lines singularly similar to those of the New York Yacht Club. Both were born on board yachts, followed soon after by a regatta and a cruise, which each club has maintained through the years. Their first club signals were white swallowtails. Two of the most famous yachts in history, each of which won honors abroad, America and Sylvie, were on the rolls of both clubs, the latter being the flagship of the Boston for two years, while members of the Boston joined their New York brethren in contributing liberally to the defense of the America's Cup. The two clubs were pioneers in establishing time allowance tables for racing yachts, that of the New York preceding Boston's by only a year.

Late in August, 1866, three yachting cronies, Benjamin Dean, Augustus Russ and Eben Denton, were gathered in the cabin of the little Herreshoff sloop Violet, owned by Denton and at anchor off Hull. One of the trio had just returned from the cruise of the New York Yacht Club to Newport and New Bedford and was enthusiastic about the success of the metropolitan organization and eager for a club in Boston. He succeeded in enlisting the support of his friends, with the result that the foundations were laid at a preliminary meeting on September 19th in Russ' office at which Thomas Dean, Charles Russ and several others were present. The club was formally organized on November 21st at a meeting at the Parker House which was attended by nearly a hundred persons, several of whom were from Narragansett Bay, including John B. Herreshoff, the blind brother of the famous designer. On December 5th, another meeting was held and a number of new members taken in, among them Nathanael G. Herreshoff, then a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The first officers of the club were Commodore Dexter H. Follett; Vice Commodore Thomas Manning, Secretary

Thomas Dean; Treasurer Augustus Russ, Measurer Dexter S Stone, of Bristol, R. I , a partner of John B Herreshoff, with Benjamin Dean, Arthur Cheney and William T. Adams as trustees. Mr. Adams, under the name of Oliver Optic, was a rival of Horatio Alger in the production of stories for boys

The 1866 organization was not the first of its kind in pleasure boating in Boston. Thirty-three years before, that dynamic figure in American maritime history, Robert Bennet Forbes, launched what was called a boat club, with a fleet of small row boats which were housed at Braman's Baths on what is now Charles River Basin, not far from the site of the recently constructed Community Boat House. Mr. Forbes was the first commodore and was probably one of the first in the country to acquire such a title. That club flourished about a year and ran up an indebtedness of about fifty dollars, which the commodore paid. Undaunted by the failure of his first effort, Commodore Forbes launched another in 1835, made up of Boston merchants who sought surcease from business care by fishing trips down the harbor, usually winding up with a chowder concocted by one of their number. As these trips were all on Thomas H. Perkins, Jr.'s, schooner Dreamer, a yacht which had recently been brought over from New York, the organization often called themselves "The Dreamers." The panic of 1837 closed these initial attempts at organized yachting in the United States.

The sloop Violet, of the Boston Yacht Club, which was what the Gimcrack was to the New York organization, was designed by Nathanael Greene Herreshoff and built at Bristol during the winter of 1865–66 She was his first creation of any size and was certainly a remarkable achievement for a young man of only eighteen. She was 35 feet over all; 32 feet water line; 12 feet 4 inches beam and 4 feet draft, with a centerboard that increased her draft to 9 feet. She was sold to Mr. Denton late in the spring of 1866 The late Secretary-Treasurer of the Boston Y.C., the veteran Walter Burgess, who owned and sailed a Herreshoff cat boat a few years later, told the writer that when Violet, on her trial trip, was beaten by John B Herreshoff's Sadie, the younger brother stamped off home and chopped up the model. Mr. Burgess is also authority for the statement that when the blind designer sold Sadie to George H. Bates, of Hingham, and brought her round the Cape for delivery, he crawled out on the bowsprit and furled the jib with his own hands

Rosenfeld

Within a few weeks after the initial meeting, the club petitioned the state legislature for a charter and, strangely enough, met with strong opposition by the puritanical minded members of the lower branch, led by J. Stone, of New Bedford, where the New York Yacht Club fleet had been cordially received not only the summer before (1866) but every year from 1856 to the Civil War. The member from the Whale City, however, was able to persuade his fellow legislators that the club would encourage immorality and dissipation, and the resolution was killed early in February, 1867, by a vote of 92 to 83. The action of the lower branch aroused such a storm of criticism in the press that the petition went through the 1868 legislature with little or no opposition.

The club's opening event was a grand review at Hingham on June 9th, 1867, followed on June 17th, Bunker Hill Day, with a regatta in the lower harbor that drew a big excursion fleet. There were fifteen starters in three classes. The next month, half a dozen yachts cruised in Maine waters, the first club fleet to visit that part of the New England coast.

The first noteworthy yacht to fly the club's blue flag was the schooner Sylvie, which Commodore Charles V. Whitten brought around from New York in 1871, the year after she had finished third in the first race for the America's Cup. Two years later, she was joined by the America herself, fresh from Annapolis, with the club signal at the fore and General Butler's white swallowtail, with his initials, at the main. The famous yacht acted as judges' boat in the club regatta of September 14th, 1873. Four years later, Ex-Commodore Whitten, who had sold Sylvie to Thomas Nye, Jr., of New Bedford, enrolled the schooner Magic, winner of the 1870 match, in the club

The first club book of the Boston Yacht Club, published in 1867, contains a rule for figuring time allowance for racing yachts based on a table of boats from 20 to 80 feet in length. The rule stated that: "Time shall be allowed for difference of measurement according to the accompanying tables, the length being taken as ½ the length of the deck aft of the stem, plus twice the length on the water line." A footnote states that the tables and formulae for their use were suggested and prepared by Mr. N. G Herreshoff and were calculated by the following method.

"It is found by experiment that the speed of boats of similar model is very nearly proportional to the cube root of their lengths. The number of miles per hour would be about 2½ times the cube root of the length Taking this for a basis, we get the allowance from the following formula Time equals 3,600 seconds divided by 2½ times the cube root of the length."

At this time, the New York Yacht Club was using a time allowance based on sail area. The two clubs held their respective methods with several modifications for many years, that of Mr. Herreshoff finally surviving. His time allowance table is just another example of the remarkable precocity of "the master," even in his teens.

BURGER

SUBSTANTIAL CONSTRUCTION

We feel that this new Burger welded steel yacht illustrated under construction typifies our lifelong policy of "substantial construction." By substantial construction we don't necessarily mean the specifying of overweight and oversize members, but rather the sound designing and careful workmanship to give each part and the whole, the needed strength. Strong as they are, there's nothing logy about a welded steel Burger yacht . . . they respond to the rudder and throttle with an alertness that belies their feeling of solidity and seaworthiness. Whether you choose a larger or smaller Burger standardized steel yacht than the new "62" shown, you'll have the satisfaction of a substantial and alive craft in which to enjoy carefree cruising of land. At 5:30 that evening, we rounded Cabot Head and entered Wingfield Basin where we decided to anchor for the night and run on to Tobermory in the morning. As we pulled into the Basin, a large fish tug was making ready to leave, and we promptly decided on fish for supper. An exchange of shouts back and forth divulged the fact that they had just completed icing down the catch and were on their way to market them. With a boatload of fish a stone's throw away, we were out of luck. We must have registered considerable disappointment, for we noticed a huddle taking place between a couple of the men, one of whom disappeared below. When he appeared again he had a skillet in his hand with which he beckoned us alongside. The skillet contained several cooked trout, still hot, left over from their own supper. Somewhat apologetically, they offered them to us and we promptly transferred them from their skillet to ours. At the time, I recall thinking the fish probably wouldn't be tastefully cooked but I have never eaten fish that tasted better.

Anyone who has been to Georgian Bay by boat must know Tobermory. It was my first visit but I hope for many more. It is a natural harbor, perfectly landlocked, with a catwalk built along the sheer rock inner shore of the harbor with mooring rings properly spaced along it. There is almost a perpendicular drop to seemingly bottomless depths where the water meets the shore line which is of solid rock.

The fishing in these waters makes them an Izaak Walton paradise. The scenery is fine, the water superb, if cold, for swimming, the temperature ideal for vacationing — in short, this is the yachtsman's perfect rendezvous for a summer cruise. We spent close to three days there, delaying our start across Lake Huron for home until fresh winds became light, allowing Huron to flatten out, and were glad of the excuse to remain.

By running until 3:00 a.m. the last night, we were able to make our home port exactly 20 days after leaving it. Over 1200 miles of water had passed under our keel; we had "locked through" some 60 odd times, been over two marine railways, through two hydraulic lift locks, and one floating bridge. We had crossed three of the Great Lakes and Georgian Bay. In summary, the cruise was one of the most interesting and varied that an adventurous yachtsman could hope to make.

Mr. Herreshoff remained in the Boston Yacht Club for three years, resigning when he went back to Bristol in 1868, the year he left M.I.T. without a diploma to accept a position with the Corliss Engine Company. He rejoined the Boston in 1877 and, a few years later, was made an honorary member. Five years before, in recognition of his many valuable contributions to nautical science and yachting, the club had made Commodore Forbes its first honorary member.

The club's first station was built at South Boston, on the south side of City Point, in 1874. It was a spacious building which narrowly escaped

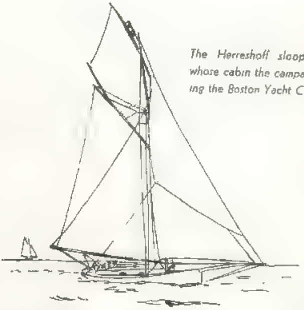
EDWARD SMITH & CO., INC.
ESTABLISHED 1827
11 East 36th Street New York City



The Herreshoff sloop "Violet" in whose cabin the campaign for founding the Boston Yacht Club was begun being wrecked by an ice floe that carried away its underpinning the next winter. When City Point was extended out into Dorchester Bay, the clubhouse was moved to tidewater again and almost completely rebuilt.

The unusual increase in the number of yacht clubs in or near Boston in the 80's and 90's had a debilitating effect on the senior organization and, by 1900, the Boston's membership had sunk to a trifle more than a hundred Revival came with the absorption of the Burgess Yacht Club, of Marblehead, and the acquisition of a well-appointed station, followed the next year by an amalgamation with the Hull-Massachusetts, which not only increased the club's rolls to well over six hundred but also gave it stations at Hull, at Rowe's Wharf in the city proper, and at Dorchester. The Dorchester and Hull stations were subsequently given up but that at Rowe's Wharf is in commission throughout the year and is the city's principal rallying point for yachtsmen, especially in winter. It is at Rowe's Wharf that the club holds its educational Dog Watch meetings that have proved beneficial as well as entertaining. The amalgamations necessitated new club colors, and thus the blue burgee was scrapped and the present white flag with its red and blue cross adopted.

The club inaugurated its eighteenth commodore at the annual meeting in January, advancing Vice Commodore Donald W. Gardner to the blue flag, Rear Commodore A. Devereux Chesterton to the red and Ralph P. Worden to the white, the rest of the executive staff being, Secretary Blake H. Cooley, Treasurer Schuyler Dillon and Chairman of the Race Committee Herbert A. MacInnis. Shifts in the flag officers of the Boston are made in accordance with a time honored ritual. The retiring commodore is given a special club burgee, while each of the new flag officers is given a flag as emblem of his office

With such a history and a membership that includes many of the leading yachtsmen in Massachusetts bay, Charles Francis Adams being the No. 2. man, the Boston Yacht Club contemplates the past with satisfaction and the future with complacence.

A few years after, the late English naturalist, Professor J. G. Wood, was in Boston for the purpose of delivering a course of Lowell Institute Lectures. Through a mutual friend he happened to hear of our experience and, expressing a wish to talk the matter over with me, a meeting was arranged. I found Professor Wood a zealous supporter of the theory, not of course that any one particular Sea Serpent exists, but that enormous monsters of species perhaps nearly extinct, still live in the sea, and from time to time undoubtedly have been observed. Land monsters of almost incredible size and shape are well known to have existed, and who shall say what like phenomenal organisms may not still frequent the ocean's abysmal depth? That such creatures do exist was, in his view, a much more reasonable belief than that they do not.

For years Professor Wood had collected data on what, it seemed, was a

Utica Thin Alloy Steel

Chrome Plated

For mechanics to get at places inaccessible with an ordinary wrench of this type The full deep throat straight all the way back to the frame gives a greater bearing and a better bite on either square or hex nuts, which means they are much less apt to slip and will prevent what mechanics popularly call "knuckle busting" The wide bearing surface of the movable jaw resting on the frame gives greater support in any position, but particularly at the full opening of the wrench, eliminating spring and unnecessary strain on the movable jaw The handle is designed widest at the end to fit the hand in its natural grasping position and gives perfect balance to the wrench under pressure. The jaws are thin, so thin that they will get into places difficult to reach with most wrenches. Both the movable jaw and the frame are drop forged from high carbon alloy steel. They will withstand breaking tests that most wrenches of this type cannot meet Factory will replace free of charge any broken parts of this wrench that have not been broken by the use of a hammer

ARMSTRONG DROP FORGED WRENCHES

Forged from steel which careful tests and analysis have shown to possess the requisite qualities to give both stiffness and tensile strength. The designs and proportions are based upon practical knowledge of wrench requirements, while modern equipment and manufacturing methods insure accuracy and uniformity in both machining and finish

Stock Milling—All openings are milled slightly larger than sizes specified in tables to allow for proper clearance and variation in nuts, etc.

Only One Stock Finish

Armstrong Wrenches are Made in One Stock Finish Only as Follows

Standard Finish—Wrenches are milled, smoothly burnished, carefully hardened and finished in black enamel. Heads are ground bright and plainly stamped to indicate the principal use for which the wrench is designed.

Special Finishes—Wrenches finished in colors and unfinished (hardened or unhardened) wrenches can be furnished on special orders.

You can get 30 to 40 yards a day of quality concrete with this light weight, compact, popular priced 3½S Mixer that you can load while it mixes. Measuring Batch Hopper, with gate, means 30 to 40 per cent faster production. Criss-Cross, "Re"-Mixing Drum guarantees a better mix. Forced Bucket Discharge unloads clean, direct into barrow or forms. Chilled drum rollers run on ball-bearing shaft.

JAEGER END DISCHARGE MIXERS

Speed to the job . . . speed on the job . . . more yardage per day—that's the story of Jaeger End Discharge Mixers, in 5, 7, 10, and 14S Sizes. Faster loading with the Automatic Skip Shaker (Patented). Faster discharge due to Jaeger's "Forced Discharge" Bucket Action. Better mixing with Criss-Cross "Re"-Mixing action in the drum.

Moreover, they're built for long, heavy duty service—with such modern features as automotive type transmission running in oil, machined steel drum tracks, for smoother, quieter, more efficient operation.

Now add the advantages of end discharge . . . of hundreds of pounds of dead weight eliminated, without the weaknesses of "light weight" mixers. We save by modern design such as replacing the overhead shaft, the big sheave wheel, and back-lashing lift cable with a low, accessible hoist clutch and single skip cable. But we use oversize clutches, shafts, gears, and bearings to insure longer life, low upkeep, dependable performance.

Spring shock absorbers, Timken bearings, and pneumatic tires for safe trailing at high speed. Two- and four-wheel mountings are interchangeable. Water Regulator is accurate to within ½ of 1 per cent. Measures in pounds or gallons.

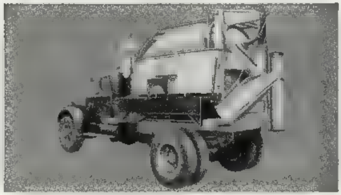
2-Yd. Jaeger High Dump Discharging into Jaeger Portable Hopper



2-Yd. "Sealed Drum" High Dump Truck Mixer

High Dump Solves Placing Problems

Built in two types, Top Loading and Combination Top and End Loading models, Jaeger High Dump Truck Mixers solve difficult placing problems—discharge over wide areas, over material piles direct into forms, into concrete carts, large buckets or floor hoppers. Famous "Dual Mix" action, water distribution, 2-speed transmission power drive and other construction features similar to Low Charge Mixers.

Top Loading Models with "Sealed Drum" take load in one quick drop through the top—fastest loading mixers on the market. Drums have ample void space for proper mixing—air-tight and water-tight—retain heat in winter, prevent evaporation. Fastest discharge through finger-flip-operated, Vacuum-Controlled Discharge Door.

Charging-Discharging Hopper on "Dual Loader"

"Dual Loaders" can be charged either through top door or Charging-Discharging Hopper at end. Load faster because of large intake opening; discharge faster because one turn of hand wheel opens Discharge Gate.

What Is FM?

There has been quite a good deal of publicity about new radio developments. Thousands of words have been written about Frequency Modulation, otherwise known as FM. When FM finally arrives, stations will be broadcasting on a new wave band, nearly eight times as wide as the present broadcast band. However, it seems that FM will not be entirely practical outside the largest cities for quite some time to come, the reason being that FM broadcasting is effective only as far as the eye can see. A station broadcasting on an FM band would be able to broadcast only about 50 to 75 miles. Hence it may be that FM broadcasting will never completely cover the country.

The radio sets presented here are the latest models, and can be used with FM converters whenever FM does finally arrive. The larger sets here are already equipped with FM as well as television connections.

*Speeds indicated by these horsepower ratings are maximum speeds for continuous service under peak loads for engines used in power units. Speeds indicated by horsepower ratings at extreme right in each line are maximum speeds for power units used for intermittent service under peak loads.

Recommendations for the Proper Selection of Power Units

Three distinct types of power units are offered by Hercules Motors Corporation for general industrial use. These are the CLOSED TYPE, commonly used for installations exposed to the weather, the OPEN TYPE and the BASE MOUNTED TYPE, generally used for installations that are protected from the weather. These basic types are available in both gasoline power units and Diesel power units.

In choosing a Power Unit, determine as accurately as possible the work to be done and the operation conditions. Then select a size sufficiently large to develop the power required. It should be borne in mind that while an engine which is somewhat oversize for a given job may use a little extra fuel and lubricating oil, an engine that is undersize for the job will prove definitely unsatisfactory in performance with resulting high maintenance costs due to the constant overload.

The horsepower ratings shown in the table on the opposite page are DYNAMOMETER STANDARD ENGINE HORSEPOWER RATINGS for STRIPPED ENGINES operating on gasoline (Diesel fuel oil for Diesel engines) and are with wide open throttle, at sea level barometric pressure (29.92 inches of mercury) and at air temperature of 60° Fahrenheit. These standard engine horsepower ratings serve the purpose of engine comparison. They must, however, be modified by suitable factors of safety when a power unit for a given job is to be selected.

For the general application of power units operating under average temperature and barometric conditions—and fully equipped with the usual power unit accessories—we recommend, as a guide, that the following conservative deductions be made from the dynamometer horsepower values given on the opposite page:

Deduct 15% when operating on Gasoline Fuel.

Deduct 25% when operating on Natural Gas Fuel.

Deduct 15% when operating on Diesel Engine Fuel.

While there are exceptions from normal practice, well established by experience, it is recommended that the MAXIMUM SPEED FOR CONTINUOUS SERVICE UNDER PEAK LOAD be limited to the maximum indicated by the power ratings marked by asterisks (*) in the dynamometer table on the preceding page.

Deduction for altitude: For operation of power units at higher altitudes, a further percentage must be deducted for loss of power due to lower air pressure. This percentage of deduction is 3% per 1000 feet of elevation for gasoline engines equipped with high compression heads and approximately 3¼% per 1000 feet of elevation for Diesel engines.

Combining the altitude factors with the previously recommended factors of safety to cover average operating conditions, the following table gives the total deductions to be made for engines operating at various altitudes above sea level.

FACTOR OF SAFETY INCLUDING ALLOWANCE FOR ALTITUDE—Per Cent (%) Deduction to Apply to Table Shown on Page 6 to Obtain Net Horsepower at Flywheel

Altitude Above Sea Level Feet	2500	3500	4500	5500	6500	7500	8500	9500	10500
Gasoline Engine—%	18	21	24	27	30	33	36	39	42
Natural Gas Engine—%	28	31	34	37	40	43	46	—	....
Diesel Engine—%	18¼	21½	24¾	28	31¼	34½	37¾	41	44¼

Higher Compression Heads: It is the customary practice of engine manufacturers to furnish cylinder heads of higher compression for high-altitude operation in order to get the best possible performance out of the engine or power unit. The table above has been arranged on that basis. If standard cylinder heads are used, the power loss due to altitude will be increased.

Because of the type of fuel used and the principles of combustion involved, Hercules compression-ignition Diesel engines are equipped with cylinder heads of standard compression ratio only, regardless of altitudes at which they are used.

High Temperature Operation: This factor need be considered only where extreme conditions prevail as deductions previously recomended take care of average temperatures. However, where Power Units are purchased for service in tropical countries or for use under any conditions where unusually high temperatures are the rule, special consideration should be given to the selection of the Power Unit and provision for adequate cooling assured.

THE CLOSED UNIT includes the same equipment as described in note () with the following differences: Addition of housing, made of heavy gauge sheet metal, and muffler; all closed units, with the exception of the TX, HX, DHXB and DRXB Series are supplied with a fuel tank instead of a fuel pump. The TX and HX Series are furnished with a fuel pump.

UNITS AND ENGINES are arranged for electric starter, generator, starting switch, ammeter (no battery) and hand starting crank assembly.

CLUTCH furnished is standard Twin Disc of proper size.

NOTE: Standard rotation is clockwise from cranking end. Models ZX, IX, OO, K, L, G, E, TX, TXA, TXO, QX, JX, WX, YX, RX and all Diesels can be furnished for counter-clockwise rotation. Refer to factory for prices.

These engines are not arranged to conform to the Underwriters' specifications. This requires additional accessories to those ordinarily used in connection with standard equipment. For these applications refer to Hercules Motors Corporation, Canton, Ohio, for description and special quotation in this connection.

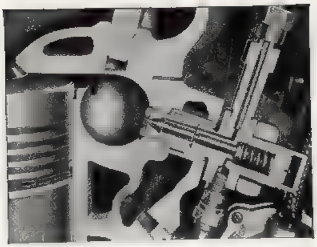
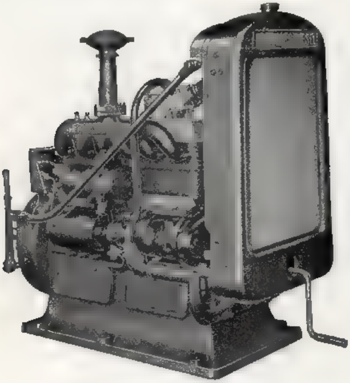
HERCULES DIESEL ENGINES AND POWER UNITS



The Hercules Combustion Chamber is located at the side of the engine cylinder. During operation, as the piston proceeds to the end of its compression stroke, it passes across the passageway between the cylinder and the combustion chamber, thereby reducing its area and greatly increasing the velocity of the air passing into the combustion chamber.

This air velocity reaches its maximum just before the piston reaches the top of its compression stroke. At this time the air is moving at fifty times crankshaft speed—and into this swiftly revolving air the fuel is injected. In other words, in Hercules Diesel Engines the all-important function of high turbulence is accelerated at the critical time of injection and combustion—completely mixing fuel and air. Furthermore, combustion is effected not only at the right time, but at the proper rate of burning—permitting the highest possible expansion of burned gases and resulting in exceptional thermal efficiency.



Hercules Open Type Diesel Power Unit
Model "DJXC"—3¾"x4½"
Rated 69 H.P. at 1800 R.P.M.
(Completely Enclosed Units Also Available)

Hercules Motors Corporation was one of the first engine builders to see the possibilities of light weight and inherently economical Diesels. And just as Hercules has led for years in the manufacture of highest quality gasoline engines and power units for heavy-duty service, Hercules leads today in the successful development of dependable Diesel engine power.

All Hercules Diesel engines are of the four stroke cycle type—with solid injection fuel system and compression ignition. Their wide range of speed and power, together with their fuel economy and performance characteristics, makes them highly suitable for a wide variety of industrial uses. Hercules Diesel engines parallel the equivalent sizes of Hercules Gasoline engines and the mountings are practically interchangeable.

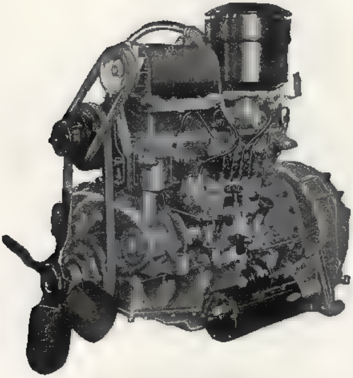
Simple in design, balanced, flexible and powerful, with the in-built ruggedness and stamina to handle industry's toughest jobs, Hercules Diesel Engines and Power Units are available in a wide range of 6-cylinder, 4-cylinder and 2-cylinder models.

Hercules Diesel Engines are widely used by leading manufacturers of trucks, buses, tractors and agricultural machinery. They are sharply cutting fuel costs in the operation of concrete mixers, pavers, dredges, shovels and many other types of road-building and contractors' equipment. Of relatively light weight and with characteristics of speed, power, accessibility and flexibility undreamed of a few years ago, these Diesels of proven performance are successfully showing the way to power production economies in oil field service, saw mills, power plants, railway construction and maintenance, irrigation projects, mining, air conditioning, welding and in scores of other industrial fields.

Seventeen models—ranging from 15 to 193 horsepower—are included in the complete line of Hercules Diesel Engines and Power Units.

Hercules Diesel Power Package Replacement Engines —For FORD and CHEVROLET 1½-Ton Trucks

Revolutionary Economies in Haulage Costs!



Replacement for Ford Truck

Fully engineered for Ford Trucks for the years 1935 to 1941, inclusive—and for 1940 and 1941 Chevrolet Trucks—Hercules Diesel Replacement Engines are available in complete Power Package units. Easily installed and easy to operate, these efficient engines bring you Diesel power at its best—clean, smooth operation, quickly responsive acceleration, and the lugging ability to hang on, with less gear shifting, when the going is tough.

These dependable Diesels are the same series engines used as original equipment by Ford Motor Company and General Motors Overseas Operations in Ford and Chevrolet Diesel-powered trucks for export shipment.

Many hundreds are in successful operation today—more than 3,000 in Fords alone—doing a great job of hauling at fuel costs amazingly low!

When the Hercules Diesel Engine is installed in a Ford or Chevrolet Truck chassis according to the simple directions in each Power Package, the whole job is a complete, highly efficient, perfectly balanced unit. The Hercules Diesel Engine is started electrically, the same as a gasoline engine. Gear shifting is unchanged. The speed is controlled by a foot accelerator and a slight pull on a conveniently placed handle on the dash stops the engine when desired.

Full information on request. Please indicate whether you are interested in replacements for Ford or Chevrolet Trucks—and whether for Conventional or Cab-over-Engine models.

peared in the advertising pages of the yachting press and, shortly thereafter, came word of her sale to an aviation concern proposing to make of her a floating hotel somewhere in the South Seas. How her scanty accommodations (which precluded her earlier charter or sale to any private party) will fit in with the "hotel" idea I do not know, although I dare say her purchasers knew what they were about. I am sure, though, that they will find her faithful and true after the way of good ships, because this one has always been as lucky as she is beautiful. She has never been aground nor in a collision. She has never lost a dollar's worth of gear to the gods of wind, sea and fire. May she be loved and cherished as in bygone days!

I do not think I shall ever see her again.

THREE YACHTS IN TIME OF NEED

More exactly, Yankee, her hull converted into cash and that cash donated by Lambert to the Spitfire Fund, will live to forge another link in the amity of America and England. Ten thousand dollars was the sum obtained for this half-a-million-dollar beauty, and that sum her owner has cabled to Lord Queenborough, Commodore of the Royal Thames Yacht Club, toward the purchase of a Spitfire or other plane to be used in the offensive against Germany. "No Red Cross funds in this instance," said her owner. Yankee was a fighter and in her metamorphosis she will remain a fighter.

BUT Yankee played anything but a fighting rôle in American-British yachting history. She was an ameliorator At the close of the America's Cup Defense of 1934 the Rainbow-Endeavour controversy were a better name for it — the relations of Anglo-American yachtsmen were more strained than they had been since the days of Lord Dunraven. T. O. M. Sopwith and his afterguard and Harold S. Vanderbilt and the flag officers of the New York Yacht Club were hardly on speaking terms, each embattled group feeling that the other had dropped miles below the standards of sportsmanship.

Lambert bought Yankee, unsuccessful candidate for that defense of the Cup, and in 1935 took her to England. He accompanied her in Atlantic, and a hearty race the two yachts made of it. In England, Yankee raced eighteen times against Endeavour, admittedly the fastest Class J boat ever built up to that time. In the first race, Endeavour was dismasted and Yankee won. In the last race of the season, Yankee was dismasted and her competitors withdrew. All told, the winning score stood nine for Endeavour and eight for Yankee, and in that whole summer of hard racing around the English circuit not a protest flag was raised and not a hard or acrimonious word was spoken.

In 1936, Sopwith challenged again for the America's Cup and his challenge was accepted for 1937. And if that wasn't the happy result of Yankee's mission to England, I'll have to renew my faith in miracles.

WELL, she was a grand boat. Frank Paine designed her and commanded her on her passage to England the first visit of a comparable yacht since 1894. Jack Parkinson was her mate and I made shift to navigate her, and we and her crew of Scandinavian-Americans, headed by "Sandpaper Gus" Olson, had the finest sail that "J" boat sailors ever had. We raced against Atlantic, commanded by Abraham Aasen, but with her owner and afterguard wielding a mean battery of sextants — and we raced

Atlantic won the blue ribbon of the seas in 1905 when, in the race for the Kaiser's "gold" cup, she sailed from Sandy Hook to the Lizard in 12 days, 4 hours In 1928, under Lambert's ownership, she raced from New York to Spain, losing to W. B. Bell's schooner Elena by 20 hours. And then, in 1935, the famous three-masted schooner was out to retrieve her form and show the upstart "J" boat what a cruising vessel of tradition could do. So we raced

The three-master's best day's run was 296 miles and, as that was 24 miles greater than Yankee, I would not be the one to underrate it. But it was short by 45 miles of Atlantic's own untouched record of 341 made by Captain Charley Barr in the race of 1905. And, during the course of the afternoon of this day thirty years later, Atlantic hove to for repairs while the "fragile" "J" boat continued to bat out the miles. Five days later, Atlantic almost caught us up but bets were settled at the Lizard and Yankee made it in 16 days 15 hours from Boston Lightship, 15 hours ahead of her mother ship

Perhaps I may be forgiven in these reminders for dwelling on parts of the history of these two famous yachts that I know best. The other chapters are more generally known. Atlantic, designed by William Gardner for Wilson Marshall, was given to the Navy in the last World War, but served somewhat tamely as a mother ship for sub-chasers of the York River detachment. She changed hands two or three times after Marshall's death

Left: Gene Autry in Western Garb Similar to the Costumes Manufactured by Feinberg-Henry Mfg Co

FEINBERG-HENRY FEATURES GENE AUTRY, ROY ROGERS AND LONE RANGER

Milton A. Henry, President of Feinberg-Henry Mfg. Co., Inc., believes he has the most powerful cowboy promotion features in the history of their business Toy Fair visitors calling at the Feinberg-Henry showroom will find a complete new line of Gene Autry holster sets, cowboy outfits, dungarees, jeweled belts, cowboy hats and, of course, the always popular Lone Ranger line of gun and holster sets. Another Feinberg-Henry innovation with strong boy appeal is their Dick Tracy Detective Set. Mr. Henry emphasizes that Gene Autry came in fourth in Box Office First Ten for movie stars for the past year and has assumed the position of Young America's Cowboy Idol. Feinberg-Henry's already large factory has been recently expanded and is now over 100,000 square feet. Milton A. Henry and Miss Gloria Henry will be ready to greet Toy Fair visitors at their only Toy Fair showing—their permanent showroom—Room 404—1107 Broadway.

LITHOGRAPHED METAL TOYS

The Ohio Art Company of Bryan, Ohio, will undoubtedly pack them in at the Toy Fair in the same way they have done every year for so many years. This year they will occupy their usual four-room suite on the eighth floor, Numbers 800, 801, 802 and 803. Every effort is being made to arrange a display so as to give buyers the best possible opportunity to go through the line completely and thoroughly. This year they promise some most interesting novelties in lithographed metal toys. The line includes sand pails, tea sets, sprinklers, drums, lunch boxes, long-spout water pails, musical toys and carpet sweepers.

NOVEL PENCIL HOLDERS

Wilton Products, Inc., manufacturer of cast iron and die cast art and gifts presents these 10 Kiddies' Pencil Holders. Each holder is completely modeled with well defined detail in characters that appeal especially to children. Each one is painted in bright but natural colors. For example, Peter Rabbit in the center of the group boasts 5 different colors. His pants are blue, suspenders and eyes red, shoes and bow tie black, and he holds a bunch of green-leafed carrots. His base is yellow green. The pencil included with each holder is amber plastic topped with red. Each pencil is automatic feeding, and equipped with an eraser and several pieces of extra lead. Peter Rabbit himself stands about 2¾" high. His pencil is about 3' long. Weight with pencil 5 oz. All items $2.40 dozen f.o.b. Wrightsville., Pa. Wilton Products also make an attractive line of completely modeled coin banks, miniature animals, miniature children, and bookends. A complete catalog and 1941 Catalog Supplement showing 62 new items will be sent on request

LYNCH LINE

Among the manufacturers who will personally show their lines during the Toy Fair is D. W. Lynch, President of D. W. Lynch Co., Inc., of Lancaster, Pa. "D. W." will show his complete line of newly styled baby yards, nursery chairs, baby walkers, lawn benches and an entire new line of shooflies at his New York showroom, Room 405, 1107 Broadway. He is looking forward to meeting the buying fraternity at the above address.

GOTHAM PRESSED STEEL DISPLAY

Gotham Pressed Steel Corporation, of New York City, will show their line in Rooms 873-875 and 877 at the Hotel McAlpin during the Fair. Svend Weidemann, A. E. Kegleman and F. G. Cantales will be in attendance. Their complete line of action games, children's cleaning sets, musical toys, horns and trumpets, together with several numbers that will be shown for the first time at the Fair, will go to make up an exceedingly varied and comprehensive exhibit.

STERLING SOLID SILVER

Introduces not only a strikingly new design of classical origin, but a pleasing departure from the conventional proportions of older patterns Women say "It s the kind of pattern that goes well with all china Just enough length has been added to the knife handle to make it comfortable to use Notice the slenderness of all handles, adding grace — yet weight, which makes silver durable, has not been sacrificed. Note, too, the added length of the salad fork handle a practical length for all salads. A lovely pattern that offers the advantage of style Soft butler finish

This beautiful pattern of authentic CHIPPENDALE origin, lends gracious harmony to the decorative ensemble which dominates the VOGUE of the day.

Gainsborough

SOLID STERLING SILVER

The genius of "Thomas Chippendale," who achieved ever-lasting fame as a wood carver and cabinet maker during the 18th Century (1735 1779), is exemplified in this artistic pattern of Sterling Silver.

In this day of the decorative ensemble, the Chippendale motif plays an important part. Therefore, this new sterling pattern is designed expressly to display the spirit of Chippendale in harmony with today's mode. Its heavy weight and beautiful butler finish assure lasting satisfaction.

Named for Thomas GAINSBOROUGH (a contemporary of Chippendale) famous for the painting of "BLUE BOY."

Maytime

SOLID STERLING SILVER

Sterling Silver, as you know, has always been more than a utensil to eat with. It expresses good taste - refinement - and pride of ownership. In addition, MAYTIME pattern offers a means of expressing individuality. Light and airy in its decorative motif of leaf and-bead, its sweeping simplicity of design will endure. It is of heavy weight throughout and is furnished in a soft butler finish.

To make an end to these pontifical enunciations, the race maintained the tradition of enjoyment first established in 1930. There were torn sails but no disasters. Hollis Baker, one of Windigo's crew, slipped down the companionway in the dark and wrenched his knee but suffered virtually none at all under the delightful hospitality of the Cuban yachtsmen, who, as usual, welcomed the American racers. Bicho Malo II, smallest boat in the fleet, finished Tuesday morning, the race having started Saturday, the 1st. The ship Joseph Conrad, non-competitor, came in the day before with dignity and grace. The schooner Admate, becalmed and with nobody to race against in her division, gave up and came in under power. The Coast Guard cutter Nemesis shepherded the fleet, and Coast Guard planes kept the competitors jumping for their identification numbers by flying watchfully overhead.

Before the race, the St. Petersburg Yacht Club dispensed its lavish hospitality and after it the Miramar Yacht Club gave its sumptuous banquet, at which, I am told, there was room enough for all. But I wasn't there, as I had to rush home to meet the worst snowfall in half a dozen years. To paraphrase the immortal Edgard, "Next year is a luffly day."

THE MONTH IN YACHTING

10. Neither the Diesel yacht nor the schooner being in sight of one another, fog signals were required by law and all other signals were prohibited. The schooner's signal was correct; that of the yacht was not.

11. You can get a north and south line of position from the sun at any hour of daylight when the sun's declination is the same as the observer's latitude and of the same name

12. The principal stars available for evening sights off Nantucket in June are, Regulus, Spica, Arcturus, Antares, Vega, Polaris.

13. The divisions of a vernier may be either greater or less than those of the scale

14. It is better to have the surface of the wood in a boat's bilge bare than painted. When painted with red lead or similar heavy paint, there is always a fillet in the angle between the frame and the plank, and this fillet will have water under it, which promotes dry rot.

15 Fashion pieces are the timbers at the after part of a vessel which form the shape of the stern and connect the transom and the side.

16. In boatbuilding, the siding of a frame is its fore and aft width, of a keel or stem, its athwartships width. The moulding of a frame is its athwartships thickness; of a stem, its width fore and aft; of a keel, its vertical dimension.

17 A vessel is beneaped when she goes aground at the top of a spring tide As the tides decrease in range, she may stay aground until the next spring tide, in two weeks.

18. "Aft" means toward the stern; you go aft. "Abaft" means nearer the stern than something else; the mizzenmast is abaft the mainmast. "Astern" is outside the ship and away from the stern; the land lies astern.

AMERICAN CHARACTER DOLL CORP.

200 FIFTH AVENUE - NEW YORK CITY

A MESSAGE TO ALL OUR FRIENDS:

When you LIVE with an idea for 22 years, it becomes so much a part of you that nothing else can take its place.

Twenty-two years ago, when we started making American Character Dolls, with the idea of creating dolls that had life, interest, reality--real character instead of the vapid doll types current at that time, we started something that has helped to make the doll business radically different.

The American Character Doll line for 1941 is a development of all those years of innovation -- and we believe you will find it both interesting and profitable.

Novelties, of course, have their place in doll selling -- and we have some that are interesting -- but the bulk of the business is still done on fine staples -- dolls that have expression, are well made, and dressed smartly -- and with all this, are popularly priced.

We wish to extend to you a cordial invitation to see them when you visit the Toy Fair.

Sincerely yours,

J Brock

▶ Charles G. MacGregor, well-known naval architect, died at his home in Lynn on February 25th. He had suffered a breakdown last summer and had been in poor health ever since though he was much improved by the end of the year and had joined Eldredge-McInnis a short time before his death.

Mr. MacGregor got his early training in yacht design in Scotland, where he served under the great George L. Watson During the World War, he was associated with the Curtiss Aircraft Co., in connection with flying boat design He was chief draftsman for John G. Alden in the period 1923–1932

LAKE ONTARIO NEWS

By W. Peck Farley

▶ Heavy northwest winds during the early part of March piled up more ice on the dock in front of the Rochester Y.C. house than has been seen in many years. However, we've had a couple of week-ends with bright sunshine which means that a good many members have been at the club to look things over, see how paint jobs have withstood the winter, view changes and improvements in the yard and gather in the newly enlarged bar to discuss the coming season.

It looks like a good year at the Rochester Y.C. While some of the boys are away doing military service, the percentage is not large and about a dozen new boats are coming into the club. It gives us rather a sad feeling to think that we are expanding and the Royal Canadian Y.C. fleet is dwindling because so many of their skippers are in military service abroad. We can only say "Hat's off!" to them and look forward to brighter days.

The R.Y C. will have three "Bountys" this season. Bill Gleason brought one in late last fall and this spring Craig Cochrane and Bill's brother, Lawrence Gleason, have each bought one Willis Zahrndt has, temporarily at least, again abandoned flying for power boating. His new cruiser, which has been in Florida waters all winter, will be at the club this summer.

Bill Barrows has bought the Six-Metre Djinn. He has sold Thisbe, which he sailed last summer, to "Rooney" Castle. This makes a total of nine "Sixes" on Lake Ontario which should mean good racing.

Fc. Pickering is joining the fleet with a 34' cruising cutter and G Rolfe Schofield is bringing in the 37' Alden yawl Desire Schofield's boat is out in Lake Michigan and he is awaiting word that the ice has gone out of Lake Erie so that he may go get her

Larry Morrow plans to go to New York in May to trail home his new Parkman Star Judy Ann, No. 2015

John Castle has a new 28' sloop but his son George will probably not be sailing with him this summer since he is a flying instructor with the Royal Canadian Air Force

Walter Todd, who last year kept his beautiful sloop Onaire at Sodus, will moor this year at the R.Y.C. This spring her underbody will be refinished with a hard surface racing type of bottom paint.

Jeff Dale has sold Jade, a day-sailer which he built but forsook for Star boats, to H. Connell Johnson.

Frank Gannett's new 71' schooner, William Stuber's new Matthews "60," Hobart Daboll's 21' sail boat and Frank Wignall's power cruiser bring the roster of new boats up to twelve. A nice addition to any fleet.

Cliff Baker and Peck Farley trailed the former's Stars'n II to New Orleans for the annual spring Star regatta at the Southern Y.C.

▶ The spring council meeting of the L.Y.R.A. was held April 26th at the

They just keep ROLLING ALONG

Odd, isn't it, how yachts may differ under the paint and trimmings? As you and your family pile into your Owens for a long, lazy week-end cruise, such things are farthest from your mind!

It costs the maker a pretty penny to build so much power, beauty, speed, safety and seaworthiness into that surprisingly roomy Owens. Thousands and thousands of dollars were spent on steel moulds (not wood, but steel for absolute accuracy) and actual size patterns for the largest and tiniest parts of the craft.

Built individually, your new Owens would cost more than $5500.00.

But in the immense Owens plant (largest in the world devoted exclusively to cruisers of one length) is a 1,000 foot assembly line . . . manned by skilled craftsmen, each a master in his certain job. The boats move along and miraculously assume their familiar lines of beauty and inherent power.

What you buy is, we think, the roomiest, toughest, prettiest playmate that ever shanghaied your leisure hours . . . certainly she's the most exciting! Yet due to this specialization she's yours for LESS than any of her imitators.

Shoot a postcard TODAY to the Owens Yacht Company, Dundalk, Baltimore, Md., for Catalog Y-10. Why put off your fun?

Central Marina, from the high slopes of Queen Anne Hill Beyond the marina is Lake Union which is connected with Puget Sound by a short canal

SEATTLE'S NEW YACHT CENTER

▶ Seattle's newest and finest yacht center, Central Marina, was practically complete in April and in full operation, giving the Puget Sound port an outstanding plant for mooring and servicing the city's constantly increasing fleet of yachts Construction of the new marina comes as a result of the interest of O. D. Fisher in the city's yachting facilities, an interest which began in 1939 when he built a 67-foot twin screw Diesel yacht.

The new marina is featured by covered moorings for 45 craft, up to 80 feet in length, 12 of these units being situated at the outside extremity of the property, facing out directly upon Lake Union. In addition to accommodations for the larger boats, a large number of covered and open slips for smaller pleasure craft are provided Some of the latter will be under the former Asher dock, just north of the marina proper, the Asher dock will be used for the display and sale of boats suited to its size. Some idea of the size of the marina may be gained from its 400-foot frontage on the shores of Lake Union and its projection offshore for a distance of 250 feet, with deep water all around the property. The marina has its own parking space, measuring 100 feet by 400 feet Along the shore side is the two-story administration building.

The marina is both convenient and safe From the salt water areas of Puget Sound it is reached in a few minutes after the Ballard Locks are negotiated. The marina's safety lies in its protection from practically all prevalent winds. Protection against fire in the covered slips is provided by overhead sprinkler systems. Each unit has individual water and electricity outlets and individual locker of ample size. A gasoline and oil dock are to be added later

In charge of the project is a newly organized company, Marina Mart, Inc., with George Warren, owner of the sport fishing boat Tern, as president; and Roy W Corbett, owner of the 55-foot motor-sailer Makero, vice president. The organization plans extensive participation in the yacht industry of the Pacific Northwest. The firm's store, in charge of Warren, will feature marine hardware, sporting goods, fishing tackle, ship-to-shore radio telephone equipment, yacht radio sets, deck furniture, refrigerators, outboard motors, grocery and meat stores, and a restaurant of 86 seats Corbett has taken charge of the boat sales, charter and brokerage division. New yachts to be handled include the Richardson line of cruisers from 26 to 37 feet. One of the new 31-foot Richardson cruisers of Sparkman & Stephens design was on hand early in March and attracted considerable attention. Century runabouts and utility craft up to 20 feet are to be sold, as well as Reinell boats

Though the company is selling Eastern-built boats, it is also fostering the local boatbuilding industry. The Edward D White yard, at Seattle, is building six 28-foot fast sport fishing cruisers, from Monk designs, for Marina Mart. Two or three models of the Walton Hubbard sail yacht line, built by the South Coast Boat Works at Newport, California, will be marketed

That the Seattle yachting fraternity has reacted kindly to the venture is evident in the completely occupied slips Additional units for smaller boats will be ready soon.

Roy W. Corbett, vice president of Marina Mart, Inc., is a past commodore of the Seattle Y.C., with a record of 20 years' membership in the club. In 1941, he is serving his fourth non-consecutive term as fleet captain He is again serving as chairman of the Pacific International Yachting Association, and this is his fifth term as an officer of the International Star Class Y R.A.: he is secretary of the Sixth District, comprising the Pacific Northwest and British Columbia. Corbett also is a director of the International Flattie Y.R.A., chairman of both the Lipton Cup and Isherwood Trophy committees, and has been a member of the North American Y.R.U. for many years.

Various items offered by All-Nu Products are shown with backgrounds made up to give the right atmosphere for each item. One of the features in the new line of this concern, whose showroom is at 67 Irving Place, New York, is a group of "Majorettes on Parade" sets, which retail at 50 cents and $1.00. These colorful figures are packed in special counter-display boxes The line also includes a number of soldier sets retailing at 50 cents and $1.00, also in special boxes, as well as many items in souvenirs, knick-knacks, premium and advertising novelties, and popular-priced staples.

Mr. Reisman says that in the special display there will be several items that are entirely different in principle from anything now on the market. He is not revealing any hints about them at the present time as he wants to spring a big surprise on visitors to his exhibit. From preparations now being made for the Reisman display at the McAlpin, the new dolls will be shown in a setting in keeping with their promised unusualness.

The 1941 line includes handicraft, action, educational, kindergarten, and board games. Most of them are made in several sizes to retail from 10 cents to $1.00, and there are also specialties for chain stores, etc. Advance Games is also making a brand new series of puzzles, which they report met with an immediate acceptance when offered to buyers. ELECTRIC COFFEE PERCOLATORS

UNIVERSAL

Perfect coffee is never boiled. Boiling water releases the rancid oils that cause bitterness. In Universal percolators boiling water never comes in contact with the ground coffee. At 120°, reached a few minutes after current is switched on, the faster valve-pump in a Universal percolator starts the water circulating Distributed by the spreader plate it saturates every particle of coffee and extracts all the deliciousness of the coffee's flavor and aroma. Before the water comes to a boil the coffee is ready to serve. One-third less coffee is required to secure a perfect beverage. Here in this wide selection will be found an electric percolator to meet every requirement—a pattern to suit the most discriminating taste

WORLD'S LARGEST BUILDERS OF MOTOR BOATS

A flotilla of Chris-Craft Super Streamline runabouts. Left to right, a new 19-footer, a 23-footer and a 17-footer, all fast and modern boats barreled bows and sterns, and insulated, non-rumble cabin tops. Many other improvements and beautifications are included in this extensive line of attractive streamlined models.

CHRIS-CRAFT PRESENTS A MODERN FLEET

▶ For 1941 Chris-Craft offers all types and sizes of craft, comprising 110 different models ranging in length from a 15′ 6″ sport runabout to a 55′ seagoing motor yacht. "Rocket" runabouts, practical utility boats, ultra-modern express models and new cruisers make up the greatest aggregate of new boats in the history of the corporation.

More beam, more freeboard, heavier construction, twin rudders with twin engines, salt water equipment, double planked bottoms and batten seamed sides, positive worm and sector type steering gear, self bailing cockpits, rubber mounted engines, easier handling qualities and higher speeds are among the structural improvements. Eye appeal advancements include the use of new color schemes, streamlined deck hardware, new interior styling, slip stream cabin lines.

New Chris-Craft runabouts are offered in several sizes up to 27′ in length. These boats are constructed of Philippine mahogany and white oak, with double planked bottoms and batten seamed sides. New to the 1941 fleet is a 16′ double cockpit forward runabout with engine aft. This boat is powered with a 60 horse power engine for a speed of 32 m.p.h. In another 16′ model, Chris-Craft for the first time offers to racing enthusiasts a hydroplane with plenty of speed and built-in-line production. In tests, this boat attained speeds up to 50 m.p.h. with two persons aboard.

A new line of "Rocket" runabouts embodying turtleback decks, slip stream folding windshields and shark nosed bows is an innovation in the Chris-Craft fleet for 1941. These new boats are offered in sizes of 19′, 23′ and 27′ with wide power options and speeds up to 40 miles per hour with the 19- and 23-footers and 51 m.p.h. with the 27-footer.

Utility boats for 1941 combine practicability with seaworthiness and speed. A new 16-footer tops the list, which is composed also of 18′, 22′ and 25′ models

wiggles over pads, weeds — favorite for large mouth

This shallow running No. 2 Hawaiian Wiggler is the bait the boys in the South are talking about. See it work in the water and you'll know why. It wiggles through lily pads, snags and weeds and is the favorite bait around tree stumps and cypress swamps. This rubber skirted Hula Dancer sure slays bass.

Abbott's 1941 Fleet

38' 10" x 27' 0" x 9' 9" x 5' 10" Sail Area 660 Sq. Ft.

Week-Ender

Phil Rhodes' masterpiece, in this size, based on tank-tested models and actual performance of five other boats of his design. Abbott's depressed cockpit, wide fitting-free decks and interior refinements resulting from inch-juggling and experience. Shower for the ladies, folding cabin berths (patent pending), outside-fill ice box — and of course 6' 1" or more headroom everywhere, with no step in the floor.

The New Week-Ender, like her famous predecessor, has proven accommodations and sturdiness. To this she adds distinguished appearance and exceptional speed under sail and power — demonstrated by the first boat during her December trip to City Island.

The first New Week-Ender was sold the day she was publicly announced.

Seadog Models — of all three boats, identical except that they omit expensive refinements, at substantially lower prices.

31' 4" x 23' 6" x 8' 6" x 4' 7" Sail Area 444 Sq. Ft.

Over-Niter

These prices are firm ONLY until January 18, 1941. Substantial increases will be necessary thereafter.

Two-years-worth of satisfied owners and no used boats for sale are the best possible reasons for continuing the Over-Niter without change. Designed by Charlie Mower, she has proved herself able and fast.

My First Mate and I lived aboard O-N 17 most of last summer and frequently had guest couples, with perfect comfort for all. But since many prefer two more big lockers, the three bunk layout is standard.

Depressed cockpit, wide decks, full headroom and common sense use of all space — characteristic of Abbott boats — are present in the Over-Niter.

The last boat delivered (June 27, 1940) was O-N 22.

All models built by Palmer Scott, New Bedford, Mass.

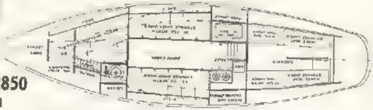
Visitor



$2850

Abbott's objects in the Visitor were to obtain the smallest size and cost with full headroom, good looks, sensible accommodations and creditable performance.

The dog-house partly solved headroom — but it took the finesse of Phil Rhodes to keep it from being an eyesore. Depth of hull did the rest, but that threatened performance. So "wetted surface" lines were lengthened and slimmed to prevent the hobby-horsing so characteristic of many tabloid tubs.

Two bunks were planned (with a third as the limit) to assure comfort not crowding, and prevent hill-climbing due to excess live ballast in the cockpit.

The first Visitor was sold the day after she was publicly announced.

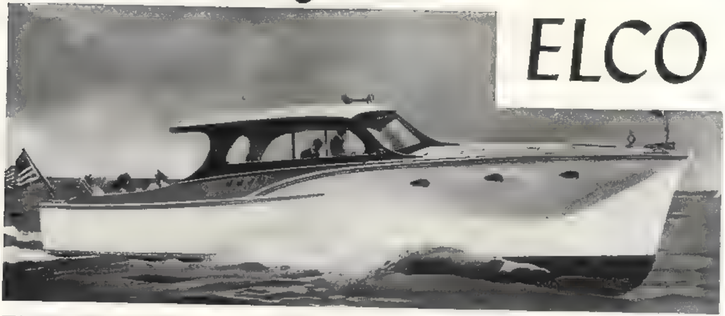
Presenting. . . A SMART, NEW 1941 ELCO

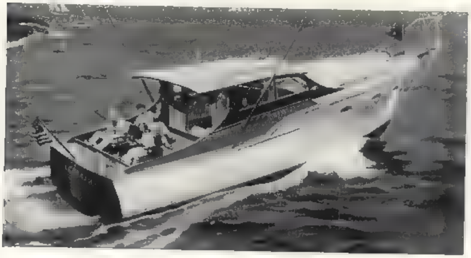


ELCOETTE 32 . . . a low cost all-purpose cruiser

Here at last is the boat you've been hoping for . . . superbly designed, moderate-sized, suited equally well for cruising by the day or week. She's ideal also as a racing tender or a deep sea fisherman . . . in short, perfect for any use. Notice her entirely new 'Torpedo' bow, with well-raked clipper stem, and graceful reverse sheer that sets an exciting new style note as well as allowing for better visibility to the helmsman. Note her sweeping flare, a hallmark of fine construction that makes for seaworthiness.

This new Elco is fast! Single or twin screw engines aided by a beautifully designed hull, develop speeds from 14 to 25 m.p.h. But it would take a whole booklet to tell you the entire story. Write for it, or better still, stop in and inspect the new Elcoette personally.

Shipshape and snug! The [illegible] accommodations for four in this well-arranged forward cabin. A lavatory and hanging locker are opposite the galley on the port side. Full 6′ headroom. Step forward leads to a convenient deck hatch.



Elcoette 32 Angler! A big 15′ cockpit offers plenty of room for all fishing gear or a half a-dozen or more guests. Elco's scientifically designed and very complete fishing equipment may be installed. This view shows a bulkhead installed at the after end of the bridge to make a weathertight deck house in which sleeping accommodations for two extra persons may be installed as an optional extra.

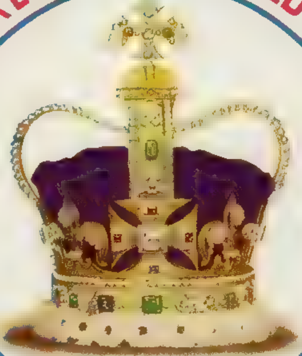
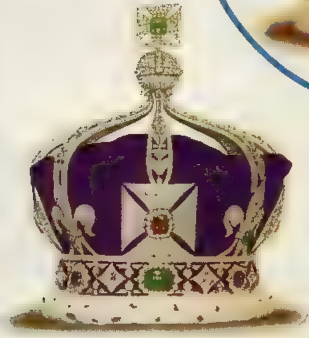
"England's Precious Possessions"

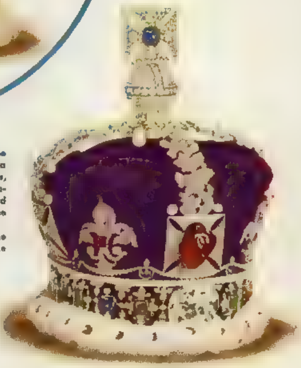
TREASURES OF THE OLD WORLD





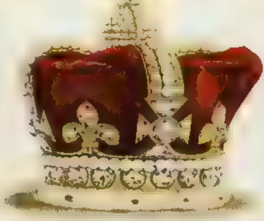
ST. EDWARD'S CROWN . . . made for the coronation of Charles II, in 1662, consists of a rim of gold, adorned with rosettes of rubies, emeralds and sapphires, surrounded by diamonds. The top arches edged with pearls and set with clusters of gems, are considered to be the mark of independent sovereignty.

This is the Crown of England, and is the one with which the king is crowned when he ascends the throne



IMPERIAL CROWN OF INDIA . . . When it was decided that His Majesty should travel to India, there to be crowned Emperor of India, a question arose regarding the crown to be used. According to law, the king may not take his crown out of England. A new crown, The Imperial Crown of India, was designed for the coronation of King George V as Emperor of India at Delhi in 1912

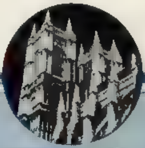
Gems include emeralds, sapphires and a wealth of diamonds. In the center of the front is a very fine Indian ruby.



CROWN OF QUEEN MARY OF MODENA Consort of James II . . . worn by Queen Mary of Modena on her return to Westminster Hall. The gems used in the crown are diamonds and pearls, the main feature of the crown being the row of very large diamonds around the rim and arches.

THE IMPERIAL STATE CROWN . . . originally made for Queen Victoria in 1838. Many of the gems in this crown count their age by centuries. This crown contains four rubies, eleven emeralds, sixteen sapphires, two hundred and seventy-seven pearls, and two thousand seven hundred and eighty-three diamonds. Black Prince's Ruby alone valued at more than $500,000.00

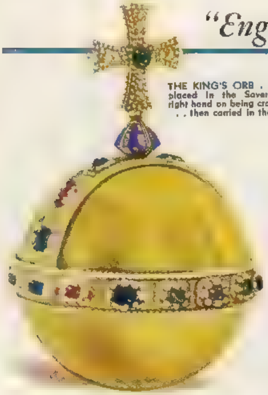
This crown is the most valuable, and considered the most beautiful, in the world. Worthy of a Sovereign on whose Dominions the sun never sets.



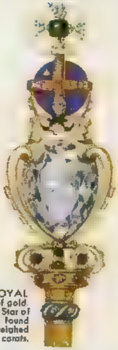
The Crown Jewels of England are historically and intrinsically, of value too great to compute. Reproductions of the more important treasures of the old world are presented in the hope that in them there may be inspiration for those who use this book for the selection of jewelry and gems suitable for the many personal and sentimental uses which occur from day to day

Reproduced from "The Crown Jewels of England" by special arrangement with the publishers, Funk & Wagnalls Company, New York

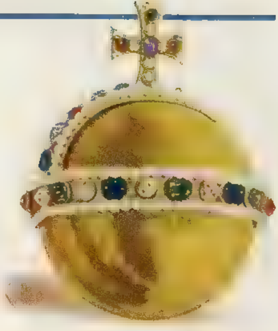
"England's Precious Possessions"



THE KING'S ORB . . . Is placed in the Sovereign's right hand on being crowned . . . then carried in the left.



THE KING'S ROYAL SCEPTRE . . Is of gold. Jewels include the Star of Africa, originally found in 1905. It weighed originally 3,025 carats.



THE QUEEN'S ORB . . . a symbol of independent sovereignty.

LIVE WHILE YOU LIVE!

To be sure, our greatest efforts — yours and ours — must be to arm our Country.

But man cannot work continuously. He must have respite — relaxation in proportion to intensity of effort.

There can be no greater Avenue to Health and Happiness than Life aboard a FAIRFORM FLYER — far away from the mob and Congested Highways — on peaceful waters, nearer to Nature and God.

This is no trite advertisement. We are not talking about the ordinary boat with its discomforts, irritations, noise and roll, with but skin-deep appeal — on which your wife is miserable.

We are speaking of a boat that is as QUIET as a car, truly LIVABLE, easy to operate, economical to run, yet far FASTER and with Twin Screw RELIABILITY.

This boat costs more to start with but far less in the long run. She has berths of Bed-Comfort — every imaginable Convenience.

You can take her offshore into a roaring sea — for exhilaration — certain that they can take anything that blows.

With your chosen companions, you may fish to your heart's content.

You may navigate streams too shoal for other boats, — explore virgin country, forest-flanked rivers — sleep peacefully in sequestered Harbors — return refreshed in mind and body — better equipped to do your job.

FAIRFORM FLYER

Along with Defense work we can build a moderate number of personal boats. We have a series of standard twin-screw models from 32 feet to 72 feet for fishing and cruising — including several splendid boats that in the event of National emergency can be quickly converted to Naval use — fastest seagoing boats in the World.

If you care to set forth your desires and requirements in a comprehensive letter, we will respond with recommendations and catalog of best-suited model.

STREAMLINED NAVIGATION

Now, let us say that a mariner in the Atlantic, uncertain of the ship's position and with no regard for date, observed first Regulus and then Polaris about a minute later, with an allowance of, say, a quarter of a minute to apply his index and height of eye corrections. These applied, give corrected altitudes (H_o) of Regulus, 22°: 56′ .3 and of Polaris, 49°:21′. He turns in his Charts to the latitude band 50°N to 60°N in which he assumes himself to be, to find his star Regulus, setting (see Fig. 2) as observed. From the intersection on the chart of the corrected altitudes of Regulus and Polaris, he reads from the side of the page his latitude directly, 50° 20′N Then, having converted his G C.T to G.S.T., by the method described above, and found it to be, say, $15^h37^m08^s$ (for which process we will allow him about a minute if he can add and subtract correctly), he reads the L.S.T. from the bottom of the page, which is $14^h40^m20^s$. From this, he determines his longitude to be (GST − LST = λ) $0^h56^m48^s$ or 14°.12′W when converted to arc, an operation of another half-minute and a total elapsed time of one and three-quarters minutes or a considerably shorter time than it took to tell. For convenient tabu'ar style, we may look at his work:

H_o Regulus	22°56′.3
H_o Polaris	49°21′
GST	$15^h37^m08^s$
LST	$14^h40^m20^s$
Long. (time)	$0^h56^m48^s$
Long. (arc)	14°12′ W
Lat	50°20′ N

Now, how far has he sailed in that minute and three-quarters? An average sailor can probably still toss a heaving line back to the spot where he was at the time of observation

Now suppose that, because of existing conditions, we are unable to use these Star Curves. Under some conditions (for instance, where we might like to cross our line of position with an observed bearing, or for one reason or another we demand a line of position), we must of necessity have more than one leg to stand on.

There are many methods and solutions for obtaining the line of position of a body and it is not our purpose here to advocate any single method This is more a matter of personal habit or taste. The method with which the navigator is most familiar and uses with the greatest facility, and consequent rapidity, is the best. Some require more computation than others, but, for simplicity, none can approach the method just described On the other hand, such a comparison as this may be misleading because the shorter or fewer steps indicated in any one method do not always point to the easiest or simplest means in the hands of a particular individual.

Even the most recent and widely talked about H.O. 214 has many awkward angles and disadvantages that make it more unwieldy in the hands of some than its immediate predecessors. The Line of Position Book is, however, a completely satisfactory method. Short in computation, with results that make for the simplest plotting using the assumed position at an even degree of latitude there is none of the difficulty encountered in working with the D R position Used intelligently this method should give a solution and plot of the observations in better than ten minutes.

So let us take one of these workable methods and settle on it, practicing and working with it exclusively until the operations become almost automatic.

Now, in conjunction with these various means of solution for the line of position, a Nautical Almanac is essential to obtain the annual and daily variation of celestial movement. Here, again, the problem of aircraft has brought a newer and handier means into the celestial picture. The Air Ministry of Great Britain was quicker to grapple with the Almanac problem than authorities in our own country, as shown by that body's publication of the Air Almanac. This volume, with improvements, is now issued quarterly in the U. S.; hence, there is no reason for not using it to the utmost advantage. Let us look at it.

The tabulations of G.H.A. at convenient intervals in aiding the solution for t and the convenient listings of the navigational stars are masterpieces of simplicity The back cover lists the sextant corrections while an additional cover and marker combination is hinged opposite the binding for marking the page in use. Each day's page is perforated to prevent working a sight for the incorrect date We may now tear out and discard each page as it outlives its usefulness.

As these daily sheets are torn out when they cease to be applicable, and

None of these are essential to the structural strength of the boats. Rudder, shaft, strut, couplings, stuffing box, etc., can all be obtained as stock items from marine supply jobbers and some of the small engine manufacturers.

Jack and Jill have been designed for amateur boatbuilders as well as professionals who can lay down a set of lines as readily as they can write their own names. And, for the benefit of the amateurs, Mr. Rhodes has done a lot of extra work to simplify the building operation. Not only has he turned out a boat which uses her own frames as moulds but with the plans he includes the following: Full size section of stem and stern, full size patterns of all frames and the transom, a detailed construction plan in layman's terms, and a complete bill of materials. Even the rankest amateur ought to be able to go on from there. The regular set of plans covers both arrangements so that the builder can, if he wishes, work out a combination of the two, or finish up with Jill after starting to build Jack.

As to cost, prices of materials vary considerably in various parts of the country, but somewhere between $130 and $160 should provide all the lumber, fastenings, glue, paint, and fittings required. Add to that, $50 to $140 for one of the small engines for which Jack and Jill were designed and that's almost the whole story. Special arrangements have been made so that the plans, full size patterns, etc., are available for the low price of $10.00 per set for each boat built.

Rufus G. Smith

I MARRIED A BOAT

continue, although he was forced to leave his own car out to weather in the ice and blizzards.

And there, in the borrowed garage, from eight in the morning until midnight, the building of the ship moved forward by sixteenths of an inch all during the snowy months.

But you are wondering about our heroine. When we discovered, 'way back the preceding spring, that we would have to have new frames, I was sorrowful but not completely disheartened. For the first month — that is, until Decoration Day — not a stroke of hammer or saw did I miss. When Memorial Day arrived without the promised boat, I was dejected but still not without hope. I stopped overseeing every stroke of work but scarcely a day passed without my noting the progress made — if any. Then came the Fourth of July and yet no launching. At last I ceased being brave and gave way to utter despair.

One cannot, however, live in the slough of despond and retain one's sanity. I decided to carve out a life of my own. But what could I do? We'd spent our golf club dues for the oak framing, so I couldn't play golf. We'd used our gasoline money to pay Ronnie that he might get tight, and I couldn't go driving. Every time I set foot in public, someone would ask, "How is your boat coming?" I finally ended by playing tennis on the free city courts with a lot of infants who didn't care if I had a whole fleet of boats as long as my drives landed on the base line, and by begging rides from every boat owner in the yacht club. At least, I did learn the rudiments of sailing; during that long, long summer I handled the helm of every boat in the harbor from Sea Gull to schooner. That is, every boat but our own.

For Christmas I asked for skis, with which to while away my widowed hours, but I got a spinnaker. For Valentine's Day, my beloved gave me "Rules and Tactics of Yacht Racing," fortunately in pictures. On my birthday, I got a compass — a bit on the optimistic side, it seemed, since one wouldn't need a compass to set a course in a garage. About the only things I could really count on were Ronnie's week-end drunk and the bills. We bought so many copper boat nails and brass screws that sometimes I worried for fear the boat would sink from the tremendous weight of them. But common sense always reasserted itself. Why worry? By the time the boat was ready to be launched, I'd be too old to care.

For they weren't making any visible progress. To be sure, after several weeks' labor, they did add a fin-like appendage which I was informed was the false keel. My timid inquiry as to what was false about a half-ton of lead at nine cents a pound met with that look of scorn that is meant to silence a woman when she asks a sensible question which a man can't answer.

By Decoration Day, the anniversary of a launching that had never taken place, they had progressed to the deck planking and the initial coat of paint which immediately disappeared into the wood as though it had

If you are in the market for "the latest thing" in a sea-going cruising boat of about 27½ feet (on the water), —

If highest specifications (which include oak keel and frames, mahogany planking, house and trim, teak decks, hollow mast, large galley and 6′ 1″ headroom) are what you are after —

We urge you to investigate this 39-footer for 1941. Your letter will bring full information and prices.

The streets of Colon are overrun with pleasure-seeking sailors

"WE SAW THE SEA"

low sandy spit connecting the two continents. Even the rain, which set in as we steamed into the harbor, failed to dampen our excitement. Standing drenched on the forecastle deck, we tried to help with the mooring lines, all of us doing what half the number could have done better. By 8:30, she was moored as though expecting a hurricane and we trooped down to breakfast four hours after getting up

That afternoon in Colon and all the next day in Panama City, we enjoyed for the first time one of the Navy's best institutions — liberty. Every third building a bar and the other two ready to collapse — that is Colon. It was interesting if only because of its novelty. A few well-kept stores appeared lost in the wilderness but the town's one really top notch hotel, set apart from the squalor and serene in the spaciousness of its own palm studded grounds, was a sailor's paradise. It was soon overrun with drink-sipping, steak-eating V 7's.

The next morning, in a body, we boarded a special train and paralleled the Canal on our way to Panama City, a larger, more prosperous version of Colon. We saw the Pacific, looking strangely like the Atlantic but a bit of a thrill just the same. The city, with its narrow, winding, almost medieval streets, its fine shops, its bizarre sights, sounds and smells and its contrasting shabby and fine residential sections, was justification in itself for taking the cruise. Suckers were treated unmercifully in the shops where real bargains and subterfuges abounded. It was at Panama that we first believed the claim: "Join the Navy and see the world." We saw the sea, lots of it, but we also saw a great deal more, with liberty at such frequent intervals as to satisfy even a landlubber and make the real sailors yearn to be off again.

We left Colon early the next morning and headed north for Guantanamo, Cuba. The two days required for the passage were among the most interesting of the cruise. Among other things, we were interviewed by the officers on the selection committee to choose those who were to undergo further training. In spite of the fact that our fate hung in the balance, most of us found these talks interesting and enjoyable. We expected officers to be somewhat reserved and were therefore surprised and pleased to find them talking to us as equals and ready to "sling the bull." The same informality and friendliness was evident in their attitude toward us as a body while at quarters or whenever they came in contact with us. All this was accomplished without any loss of respect from us and at all times we understood who was boss and were not only ready but eager to follow orders. It was an interesting example of the informal and, at the same time, more effective, discipline in our Navy today.

No less satisfactory were our relations with the regular bluejackets. In spite of the fact that we were quite obviously inexperienced in naval life and almost always in the way, they did not seem to resent either our presence on board or the fact that some of us would soon rank above them Instead, most of them were friendly and extremely helpful.

The day before we reached Cuba we saw the secondary battery in operation. It was anti-submarine target practice, using the five-inch guns and a solid projectile. We had always considered five-inchers pretty small stuff and were therefore doubly surprised at the jolt of the recoil and the deafening smash of the firing. It was a real thrill watching the shots peppering the small target and then skipping along the water as far as the horizon. When it was all over, we decided that submarines, as well as aeroplanes, were good things to stay out of.

This high quality special tool steel makes it possible to combine a light weight axe at the same time having the durability of a much heavier blade. Will hold a sharp edge over a long period of hard usage. The sheath knife has a 5 in. mirror finished blade, carefully tempered and edged. The heavy double brass guard makes this knife very practical for any purpose. Both the axe and knife have a full checkered pistol grip handle. The combination comes complete with an embossed leather holster. Either the axe or the knife can be carried on the belt separately or as a complete unit.

MAKE DEBUT AT THE TOY FAIR

STURDY TOYS

Kingsbury Manufacturing Company have brought out a number of new items in their well-known line of motor driven steel toys. One of the most interesting of this newcomer's is an outboard motor boat of heavy gauge steel, with rustproof detachable motor. In order to give the greatest amount of realism to this little outboard equipment, the winding apparatus has been so arranged as to simulate the starting of an outboard motor by means of pulling a string The motor is wound up by giving a cord two or three pulls and the construction is such that the cord re-winds itself after each pull. Steering is done by means of a handle which alters the position of the motor and the motor itself is started with a throttle connected with the handle. The new Anti-Aircraft Defense Gun is a faithful reproduction of the most modern gun of its type. It is mounted on a swift moving truck and can be trained in any direction by means of gears which elevate or depress the muzzle and revolve the gun on a turn table. Harmless projectiles can be shot from the gun. The third item is an Army Truck It is made with a sturdy clock spring motor and has a detachable top of khaki cloth. All Kingsbury motor-driven toys are constructed of stamped steel heavy grade and are electrically welded. Those described above retail at $1.00 each.

DEPARTMENT STORE HEAD WRITES TO IDEAL

Irving Cohen of the Ideal Novelty & Toy Co. was highly pleased recently to receive a letter from L. D. Michaels, president of Brager-Eisenberg, Inc., Baltimore, Md. The department store head wrote, "In going over our records of the amount of dolls sold in our store this past season, I was amazed as well as gratified to note that we sold 450 of your Magic Skin Dolls ranging in price from $5.95 to $10.95 and wish to thank you for your cooperation in keeping us well supplied with this particular item. We also want to tell you that the demonstrator you sent us was outstanding and hope she will be with us again next year. Would suggest that it wouldn't be a bad idea if you could make these dolls in a smaller size to sell around $2.95, for at this price we feel we could have gotten additional volume." Mr Cohen and the others on the Ideal staff were very appreciative of Mr. Michaels' thoughtfulness in writing about the sales figures hung up.

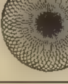
THORO-MIX BEATER ACTION

This type of action, exclusive on KITCHENAID, eliminates spinning of bowl. Beater or whip travels around inside the stationary bowl while beater turns in opposite direction on its own axis. Diagram at right shows path of beater reaching every part of mixture.



KITCHENAID ATTACHMENTS

Easiest to Connect—Simplest to Use

Attach Direct to Built-in Power Unit

The many extra uses to which the two new models of Kitchenaid can be adapted by use of these special attachments afford many opportunities to you for extra and subsequent profitable sales with each Kitchenaid you sell to a home. All attach easily and operate directly on the attachment hub on the front of the transmission case—no extra power unit required. Many can be used on both models—some are special additions to the DeLuxe "3A" or the larger Supreme model—and all increase the "skill" of Kitchenaid to simplify the work of cooking.

THE GOLD CUP GOES TO DETROIT

Ted Houser, one of the mainsprings of Florida motor boating, came all the way up to New York to present a plan for holding the Gold Cup race in March, at Rockledge, Fla. When it was pointed out, however, that the only available course there would be unsuitable for the contests he withdrew his proposal. So the annual glamorous headache of the sport was apparently left with no place to go. It was then that Horace Dodge made his offer. It was tentatively accepted by Commodore Otto Barthel, of the Detroit group, and will undoubtedly go through if the war does not prevent.

The race will be sponsored by the Dodge Brothers Dealers' Association and the part the Detroit Yacht Club will play is to be determined in the near future.

Probably no development could have been more stimulating in the Gold Cup situation. Detroit, which has a good, if not ideal, course and the largest fleet of motorized yachts in the world, is almost the perfect place for America's outstanding race. The course lies in a natural marine amphitheatre, a location that attracts an audience of stupendous proportions. The event will be held on Labor Day which, this year, falls on Monday, September 1st.

Zalmon G. Simmons, 1939 winner, brought up two suggestions, one of which was adopted, the other ruled out. The one tossed in the wastebasket was his motion that, to help defray expenses of the race, an entrance fee of $1,000 be imposed. The suggestion accepted was that courses should be at least three and, possibly, five miles in length, now that the speed of Gold Cup boats is up around the century mark. This will necessitate a change in the deed of gift but will tend to produce greater safety and greater speed. Commodore William R. Bogley, of Washington, showed a chart of the new two-and-a-half mile course for the President's Cup race. This course, he stated, is much safer than the old one and the committee will try to increase its length to three miles.

Not for many years has there been such a January fleet of Gold Cup boats as this year. In analyzing the possible entries for the Labor Day event, we find the following.

Boats already available and ready to run are Herbert Mendelson's record-holding Notre Dame III, with hull designed by Dan Arena, her driver, and the 24-cylinder Duesenberg engine — of ancient vintage but completely overhauled, Zalmon G. Simmons' My Sin, with Ventnor hull and completely rebuilt Miller Gold Cup engine,

William Cantrell's Why Worry, with Ventnor hull and Hispano-Suiza "97" engine;

M. J. Cooper's Mercury, with home-built hull and 725-cubic-inch Hispano-Suiza engine;

Lou Fageol's So-Long, with California-built hull and special Fageol motor;

E. A. Wilson's Miss Canada III, with Greavette hull and redesigned Miller motor which Mr. Wilson believes he will be able to run in the Gold Cup since she can be serviced in Canadian waters,

George C. Cannon's Gray Goose III, with Ventnor hull and three 225-cubic-inch Lycoming motors, now being reorganized by Hugh Gingras in Florida.

The foregoing boats, in themselves, constitute a more formidable list of starters than we have had for some years. Other developments, however, easily double the number of possibilities. Here are some of them:

Gar Wood, Jr., has purchased Hotsy-Totsy from Sidney Allen, the 1940 winner, probably for the purpose of obtaining her supercharged Wright motor to place in a new hull to be built this spring.

choice of sailing or power craft works out in about the same proportion as the preferences of men. The only trouble is that preferences do not always run the same way in the same family — which is strictly a family problem and none of mine.

So, if you're trying to talk the girl friend into letting you buy a boat, take her down to the Motor Boat Show and let her look around. If possible, steer her away from boats that are far too luxurious and expensive for your purse — she might come away with a lot of false expectations. Don't bore her to death by going into the difference between a reduction gear and a generator or try to explain why Philippine planking is better than sappy spruce. When it comes to a showdown on such matters, it's time to assert your masculine omniscience — after all, she ought to assume that you know something about it.

Rather, point out the features of your favorite boats which she should appreciate. The galley, for one. Most boats today are equipped in this respect in a manner to appeal to most any woman, particularly one who needs roller skates to get around her old-fashioned kitchen at home. But a word of warning here; don't bear down too heavily on the galley motif, lest the lady, especially if she does her own cooking at home, begin to suspect that by going to sea she'll only be swapping a large, immovable kitchen for a little one that jumps around under her. In fact, you might vaguely hint that you simply love to do the cooking when you're on a cruise and generally wash up afterward, too. But again, don't go overboard on this; she might hold you to it later.

Show her the undeniably attractive color schemes the builders work into their boats today, the cute little lockers and gadgets, the luxurious spring berths that have almost universally replaced the hard-pine-and-donkey's-breakfast bunks most of us started cruising with. Point out the sun-bathing possibilities of a broad deck or cockpit and the snug rainy day comfort of a cabin or enclosed deckhouse. In short, make it look good. If the boat salesman or broker and the husband or boy friend get together in advance and work up a system of signals and cross-questions whereby they can work as a team, it might help in some cases.

To end this story on a serious note, there are a couple of features, obtainable in any cruising boat worthy of the name, that are most important to women but to which few men give much thought — privacy and arrangements that solve the problem of how to appear presentable while cruising.

In respect to the first, a great many men, the writer included, know from experience that the fewer partitions and cubbyholes there are in a boat up to forty feet or so the more livable she is. This is true of a boat to be used by men and in a boat to be used by two married couples who have reached the "Turn your back a minute, I'm going to change my clothes" stage of familiarity. But in any boat that is to be used for mixed cruising, there ought to be some privacy. If your boat is not big enough to permit separate staterooms without spoiling the general accommodations, much the same effect can be obtained by having a really commodious toilet room which will also serve as a dressing room when the ladies want to shift to bathing suits, shore clothes or pajamas while the men are still absorbing that last, delectable highball around the cabin table.

In helping the women maintain their standards of personal appearance, a number of different factors need consideration. A place to hang one shore-going suit, a corner of a shelf somewhere for shaving gear and such odds and ends, and a sea bag tossed in the corner of your own bunk are about all a man requires. Women require a lot more, especially if the cruise is a long one entailing more or less shore-going and attendant dressing up. A girl wants a locker where she can hang dresses full length without danger of their being wet by deck leaks or bilge water; chafed by rubbing against the bulkheads when the boat rolls; discolored by strong sunlight pouring through a porthole, especially in southern cruising; and from which she can select the dress she wants without messing up all the others. She wants a shelf or locker for shoes, lockers or drawers for underwear, stockings, etc.; smaller drawers for those nondescript small feminine foibles groupable under the head of "dress accessories," a place in the toilet room for cosmetics and such, and a good mirror, full length if possible. (In self defense, let me add that these are suggestions I got for this story from several women accustomed to extensive cruising and not the products of my own imagination.)

Actually, all these things are matters of planning rather than space. You can work them into a pretty small boat, if you devote enough thought to it and if you do a bit of inquisitive visiting around, equipped with a tape measure and a notebook, on boats in which women have done a lot of cruising and found it comfortable and convenient.

Another point brought up by a girl who has cruised a great deal, and loves it, is the location of the galley.

FLORIDA TRADE WINDS

By Vivyan Hall

▶ With conditions ideal for Lakeland's fast course, its annual regatta finished the Florida racing season with several new records. Frank Alderman, of Fort Myors, set a record of 44.117 m.p.h. in the Class D inboard runabouts, and Franklin Foulke, of Baltimore, a mark of 43.604 m.p.h. for the Class C runabouts. Among the outboards, Thom Cooper, of Kansas City, made 46.560 m.p.h. in Class A, while Worth Boggeman, Fort Worth, raised the Class B record to 52.724 m.p.h. Hugh Gingras' Gray Goose IV, from Rockledge, took both heats of the 225 hydroplane event, followed by Jack O'Mara, of New York, and Jack Cooper, of Kansas City. Ken McKenzie, New Haven, completed a clean sweep for the winter in the 91-cubic-inch hydroplanes. Charles Walpole, Sarasota, took first and J. W. Alligood, Miami, second in the family outboard runabouts. Other outboard winners were Fred Jacoby, Jr., in Classes B and C; Ken McKenzie, Class F, and Mabry Edwards, outboard runabouts. Seven of Paul Prigg's inboard runabouts, known as the Miami Flyer Class, came up for the regatta, George Pinder and Guy Marvin taking first and second.

▶ The Florida championships of the Snipe Class, held by the Tampa Y. and C. C., resulted in a duel between Clearwater's Don Cochrane and Miami's Jack Wirt, with Cochrane winning for the third straight year. In the first day's racing, in heavy going, Clearwater's skippers took the first four places, with Cochrane third and Wirt fifth. The following day, with heavier weather, Cochrane and Wirt took first and second in both races, to finish in this position in the final standings. Ted Kamensky and Guy Roberts, both of Clearwater, took third and fourth. There were a number of capsizes but the Tampa Sea Scouts made quick rescues.

▶ The following week-end, these 22 Snipes trailed over to Clearwater for the mid-winter series. Again heavy weather was experienced. Clewis Howell won final honors of the three races, his two seconds and a third giving the Tampa Y.C. the series when Don Cochrane withdrew from the last race after touching a mark. With two firsts in the bag and a lead of 1000 feet, he brushed against the tip end of a flag with a shroud and withdrew immediately, forfeiting all points and finishing fifth. Guy Roberts was second and Jimmy Cochrane, also of Clearwater, third. A free for all race held during the regatta was taken by Allyn Stevens, of Orlando. J. A. Taylor did an able job as regatta chairman.

▶ Skippers from across the state ran away with the spring regatta of the Miami Y.C. Don Cochrane took first and Bill Blood, also from Clearwater, second in the Snipes. Miami's only consolation was when Jack Price defeated the St. Petersburg champion Billy Letts in the Moth Class. The state Moth championship was later won by Aleta Van Sant, of the Big Bayou Y.C. Other winners were Charles Lalor, Jr., in the Crickets, Raymond Smith in the Development Class, and Jack Ott in the open class. The Interclass race was taken by Victor Cribb's Cricket, with Cochrane's Snipe second.

▶ A number of boats from the Lauderdale Club made a recent cruise to Key Largo, Commodore James E. Bartlett's Martha, Dan Foster's Louise II, George R. Loehr's Jaccaranda, Henry Parker's Spitfire and Walter Zittel's Buccaneer making up the fleet. The Lawrence Jennings have been cruising the Keys in their Timberdoodle, from Long Island Sound. Charles F. Adams' Sanjan, from Boston, has just returned from Key West and other points in the Keys. The Matthew T. Mellons recently left Palm Beach in Gerda, for Havana and other Cuban points. The Cleveland Putnams' Mojo has been stopping at Cat Key.

▶ Another recent Cat Key visitor, Hans Hinrichs, has loaned his yacht Alone to Michael Lerner to be used on an expedition for the American Museum of Natural History along the South American coast. Another expedition in the interest of science is that being made by George Vanderbilt who left Florida for the Panama Canal and south Pacific Coast aboard his Pioneer. This venture is sponsored by the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Science.

▶ Nine of the new Navy motor torpedo boats which have been basing on Miami this season cruised the 160 miles to Key West in five hours, establishing a new record for the run. On the same day, the Key West papers referred to a race held exactly 25 years ago when Commodore Huston Wyeth's express cruiser Boomerang defeated Carl Fisher's Shadow and Charles Kotcher's Bay End over the same course at a record speed of 23.1 m.p.h.

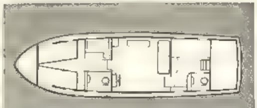
The New

RICHARDSON 37′ FLAGSHIP

with Trim Hull Lines by Sparkman and Stephens

From the glistening cutwater of her gracefully raked bow to the spacious after cockpit, this new 37′ Richardson Flagship is every inch a deluxe motor yacht. Her sleek beauty will distinguish her even among expensive, much larger craft at the smartest anchorages. Her instant response to controls will delight you – and the extra roominess of her staterooms and deckhouse will please your family and friends. Her new advanced-design, round-bottom hull promises dry, level-riding comfort regardless of storm signals — the staunch, seaworthy, "blue-water" performance that has been Richardson tradition for 30 years. Yet, with all her luxury and husky dependability, this big new Richardson 37′ Flagship is surprisingly economical to own and operate.



YOUR CHOICE OF THREE SKILLFUL ARRANGEMENTS

This plan shows the twin cabin arrangement of the model 37-7 Flagship, one of 3 clever standard plans. Special cabin designs are also available.

THE LUXURIOUS COMFORT AND EXTRA ROOM OF CUSTOM DESIGN

No standard-built cruiser of equal size offers the same cruising comfort found in the new deluxe 37′ Richardson Flagship.

We can supply oil filters and cartridges for any make car. When ordering specify car, year and model.

C'mon, take your place... UP AHEAD!

No race was ever won . . . no great achievement was ever given to mankind without someone setting the pace. Naturally, there must be a leader!

There's a feeling of self-confidence that sweeps over you as you stand at the jaunty wheel of the new 1941 Owens. You know that you're master of the cruiser that is the pace-setter . . . not a copy.

She's a trim beauty in sparkling chrome and lustrous mahogany . . . the pride and joy of her boat-loving designers. For she's the result of six long years of steady plugging away at an ideal . . . the perfect cruiser in the size that's demanded by most of you yacht buyers.

Not for Owens designers to bother with larger or smaller size boats. The spaciousness of much larger boats was planned into 30 feet 6 inches of lifetime pleasure! The "turn-on-a-dime" maneuverability and economy of a small cruiser were retained. Perhaps you'll be surprised (certainly you'll be delighted) to find so much honest value, so many exciting refinements built into a yacht that sells for lower than any of her rivals.

Today, in any yacht basin and curling the waves throughout the nation, you'll see Owens Yachts. Now that you think about it, it seems inevitable that others should copy. But, just remember . . . in yacht building, you can't learn how in a day . . . or a month . . . or a year!

What makes an Owens your best buy? Drop a postcard into the mail today for Catalog Y-8. The Owens Yacht Company, Dundalk, Baltimore, Md., will send it P. D. Q. without any obligation!

This is a living-room deck cabin! Even with six people sitting about the mahogany table, there's plenty of aisle-room fore 'n' aft.

WHY DOESN'T SOMEONE tell me these things?

It's hard to know why folks should be so surprised when they find out that Owens has been specializing on one size yacht for the past six years. After all, that's the order of the day . . . specialization means greater skill, higher quality and top value, wherever you find it!

This fact was discovered many years ago at Owens. They knew right then that it would enable them to lead the pack in short order.

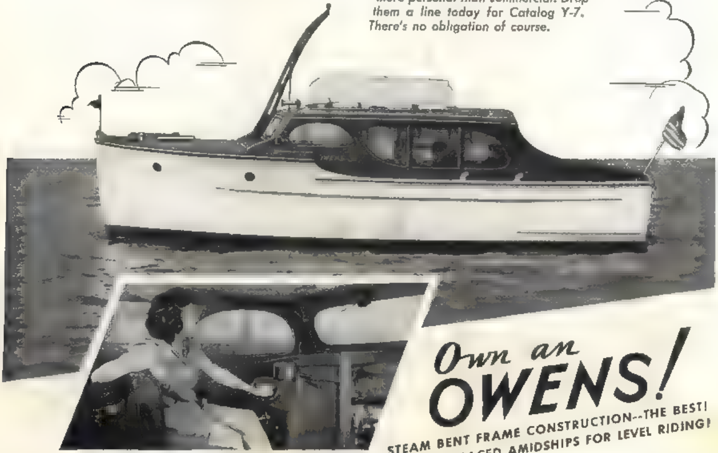
Plans for different sizes and models of Owens Yachts were thrown overboard. The entire staff set to work in a fever of enthusiasm for a new idea. Specialization was the watchword at the Owens plant. New ideas were drafted. Hidebound traditions hit the wastebasket. Soon, a beautiful new Owens began appearing on the waterways of the nation.

But this was years ago.

Improvements piled into that sleek, water-form hull thick and fast. Last year, Owens emerged as the undisputed quality leader in the 30' to 31' class. Confirmation of this leadership came this year, when the competition began to imitate rather than originate. Today Owens holds that lead securely.

This important decision, taken years ago, to build just one size boat . . . but build it better than any other boat that size in the world, brings the Owens price lower today than any other boat in her class . . . Sedans from $3270 and Fishermen from $2990. And today, Owens' 1,000 foot assembly line is geared to send a new Owens through every seven hours!

The Owens Yacht Company, Dundalk, Baltimore, Md., would like to send you a story of something that's more personal than commercial. Drop them a line today for Catalog Y-7. There's no obligation of course.



That solid-rod steering mechanism is so sure and easy to handle that you can turn the wheel over to your wife . . . but you won't want to!

WEIGHTS PLACED AMIDSHIPS FOR LEVEL RIDING!

They just keep ROLLING ALONG!

Odd, isn't it, how yachts can differ under the paint and trimmings? As you and your family . . . including the pup . . . pile into your Owens for a long, lazy week-end cruise, you may not think of the things that are hidden in her hull, 'neath the tough mahogany planking and along the heavier-than-usual keel.

It costs a pretty penny to build so much power, beauty, speed, safety and roominess into your sleek 1941 Owens. Thousands and thousands of dollars were spent on steel moulds (not wood, but steel for absolute accuracy) and actual size patterns for the largest and tiniest parts in the craft.

Built individually, a new 1941 Owens would cost more than $5500.00.

But in the immense Owens plant (largest in the world devoted exclusively to cruisers of the 30' to 31' field) is a 1,000 foot assembly line. Along this line stand hundreds of skilled craftsmen, each a master in his certain specialized job. The boats move along, and miraculously assume their familiar lines of beauty and inherent power. Checked, re-checked and okehed, they are cradled into the water . . . and then given a sailing test. "Test pilots" put them through grueling ordeals. When the last fingerprint is wiped from her 4½ tons of shining chrome and lustrous mahogany your cruiser is ready for you!

What you buy is, we think, the roomiest, toughest, prettiest playmate that ever shanghaied your leisure hours . . . certainly, she's the most exciting! Yet you can own an Owens for less than any of her imitators.

A postcard to the Owens Yacht Company, Dundalk, Baltimore, Md., will bring you Catalog Y-6, without obligation of any sort. Don't put off your fun any longer than you have to . . . send it today!

Nearly ready to cradle into the water . . . just a few feet from the end of that 1,000 foot assembly line. A few more refinements and one of these can be yours!

PORTABLE PROOF PRESS

Rembrandt Graphic Arts Co., 18 E. 42nd St., New York, have perfected a portable proof press for woodblock, linoleum block, printing type, halftones, lithography, etching and other graphic arts. It is called the Laszlo Universal Press, and is the invention of George Laszlo, well known American etcher and painter. This press is already being used successfully by schools, professional and amateur photographers, artists, designers, Christmas card and bookplate makers, and other hobbyists. The outstanding features of the Laszlo Press are a resilient hard rubber cylinder, the elimination of blankets, an offset feature, and two interchangeable beds—the flatbed and the chase. The press when operated is clamped to the corner edge of a table. It is rotated by a wheel which has three long spokes for easy leverage. Each spoke has a rubber handlegrip for better handling and safety. A pair of strong metal frames hold an upper roller or cylinder made of a special hard rubber composition, and a steel lower roller. Roller bearings provide smooth operation. A steel covered traveling bed, either a flatbed or a chase, moves back and forth between the two rollers. The Rembrandt Graphic Arts Co. has prepared a handsomely illustrated booklet which they will be glad to send to dealers in hobbycraft supplies. This booklet describes and pictures the Laszlo Press as used for each of many different purposes, and also contains a price list covering several different models of the press, as well as accessories.

NARRAGANSETT BAY GOSSIP

By Jeff Davis

▶ We are gradually getting the 1941 racing schedule worked out. About half of the clubs which usually sponsor regattas open to all classes have picked their race dates, and those which haven't are expected to make their selections from the Saturdays and Sundays still open.

That "expected" may sound funny to association race committees in sections where there are twice as many clubs in the organization as there are Saturdays and Sundays in the racing season, and the association committee can tell the individual club when it can have its regatta, if any. In this little yachting section, where each club committee runs its own race and the association officers stand by to do whatever the club committee asks to have done, veterans in association offices discovered long ago that the way to get clubs to coöperate was to coöperate with the clubs and not try to boss them.

▶ The Narragansett Bay Power Squadron will run its predicted log race Saturday, June 28th and hold a rendezvous the next day.

The first sailing ragatta will be started at 8:00 p.m. July 3rd. It is a 30-odd-mile race from Edgewood around Prudence Island. As the race will finish by daylight on the morning of the Glorious Fourth, it will make a three-day holiday and, so far, there's been no proposition to do any racing for the larger classes, giving them a chance to get in a little cruising. There may be a scrub regatta, however, for the day sailing type classes.

The Rhode Island Y.C., as usual, will sponsor the first regatta July 12th, and the Washington Park Y.C. regatta will be sailed the next day.

Other dates are, the Newport Y.C., July 26th; Conanicut Y.C., July 27th; Coles River Y.C., August 2nd; South Swansea Y.C., August 3rd, Taunton Y.C., August 16th and Edgewood Y.C., August 31st. This leaves Barrington, Bristol, East Greenwich, Ida Lewis Yacht Clubs and the Yacht Squadron of the Warwick Country Club plenty of vacant dates to pick from. Saturdays left open will probably be used for regattas managed by the Narragansett Bay Y.A.

▶ Since the new Coast Guard Reserve will enlist men who don't own boats, there's a good chance that it will build up an organization here. The first Reserve, now the Auxiliary, fell flat here. Men who wanted to enlist couldn't and boat owners who could figured that if Uncle Sam ever got to wanting their boats, he'd take them anyway. Looks better now.

▶ The Sea Scouts are trying to pep up the sailing program started last year. Prof. Schock, of the State College staff, designed a nice plywood dinghy especially for the R.I. Sea Scouts and there was considerable activity among the boys about building them. Many were started but not so many were finished. At present, six boats have been completed and ten more are under way.

▶ Short Ends. . . . Power Squadron's lecture course in elementary pilotage all done but the examinations. Attendance at the Providence lectures averaged more than 100 and, at the Fall River course, more than 70. Seventeen advanced pilots who took the junior navigator examination now rate "JN." The whole class passed. . . . Stuart Day has bought the Crowninshield-designed, Lawley-built auxiliary yawl Andot. The boat is in Florida waters and several Rhode Islanders are out for the job of bringing her up. She is 40 years old and, if all the names she has had were painted on her transom together, she'd be down by the stern. . . . Charles McKenna has bought a 30-foot Chris-Cruiser, named her Sonreed, and will add her to the Edgewood Y.C. fleet. . . . Archie Fam's new 38-foot Chris-Craft had too much beam to ship by rail, so she came from Algonac to East Greenwich on a truck. . . . Bill Alexander, owner of the Star Joca, has changed his address from a school in Washington to the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md. . . . Jackrabbit, Herman Hanson and Ruth Ann (Billy) Read, co-skippers, won the winter series of the Narragansett Bay Chapter of the N.A.D.A. and started right in again to pile up the points in the first races of the spring series. They're a hard crew to beat. . . . Al Smith (not he of the Brown Derby) has been transferred to Boston, so the Edgewood fleet will be shy his 28-foot raised deck cruiser Paddy. . . . Fred Rooks' 70-foot Choctows is the first of the Narragansett Bay power fleet to be bought in by the H. C. Moss Co., of London, presumably for British Navy use. . . . At Herreshoff's, the part of the south shop that leaned up against Comerford's Aide de Camp after the 1938 hurricane passed over and had to be torn down, has been rebuilt and now houses the second of the mine sweepers allotted to the firm in the defense building program. The south wharf, also stripped of its deck by the hurricane, is being rebuilt.

NEW 1941 RICHARDSON DESIGNS

by Sparkman and Stephens

For thirty years it has been Richardson's policy to build only the finest standard cruisers—craft in which no detail of beauty, performance, seaworthiness and comfort has been overlooked. By retaining the famous naval architects, Sparkman and Stephens, to cooperate on the designs of the smart new 1941 Richardson 31 foot cruiser and the new deluxe 37 foot "Flagship," Richardson takes another long step forward in giving today's buyers the greatest possible values at moderate prices. No other standard-built cruisers offer the trim, fair lines, the cruising comfort, and the husky dependability of these new Richardsons. There are nine standard models, in 26, 31, 33 and 37 foot hulls. How Experienced Boatmen Rate Cruisers—Number 3

"LOOK BELOW THE HATCHES, TOO!"

"Paint can cover a multitude of sins." So wise boatmen look below the hatches before they buy — because a current survey of 600 cruiser owners proves seaworthy safety is first in importance to these old hands. Nailed planking looks as good in showrooms — but Richardson's husky cedar planks are kept shipshape with bronze screws. Spliced keels are cheaper — but every Richardson keel is sawed to shape from a single piece of finest white oak. Such refusal to compromise with quality has made the name Richardson a synonym for safe, seaworthy design for 30 years. When trim beauty, roomy comfort, and surprising economy are included as well — it's no wonder the new 1941 Richardson cruisers are the choice of experienced boatmen everywhere. Write today for catalog F-41, giving plans and specifications on 9 new standard models, in 26, 31, 33 and 37 foot hulls.

RICHARDSON BOAT COMPANY, INC., 365 Sweeney Street, NORTH TONAWANDA, N. Y.

THE MODERN DESIGN ROUND-BOTTOM HULL of the new Richardson 26 footer means a smooth, dry, non-pounding ride. Her spacious design even provides full head room in galley and toilet. Sleeps 4.

IN ANY WEATHER, you can rely on a Richardson to take you there and bring you back. This smart, seaworthy new 33 footer has sleeping accommodations for either 4 or 6, and is remarkably economical to operate.

How Experienced Boatmen Rate Cruisers—Number 1

"YOU CAN'T BEND A BAROMETER NEEDLE!"

There's no way to keep the barometer from falling once foul weather heads your way. That's why experienced boatmen agreed, in a recent survey, that safe, seaworthy design is the most important feature in any cruiser. And undoubtedly this is one reason so many have continued to buy Richardson Cruisers during the past 30 years. Every Richardson model offers trim beauty and spacious comfort – plus an advanced design, round-bottom hull with one-piece white oak keel and bronze-fastened cedar planking — built to take you there and bring you back in any weather. You'll find the cruiser you've always wanted in the new 1941 Richardson Fleet — 9 standard models, in 26, 31, 33 and 37 foot hulls. Write now for our new catalog F-41.

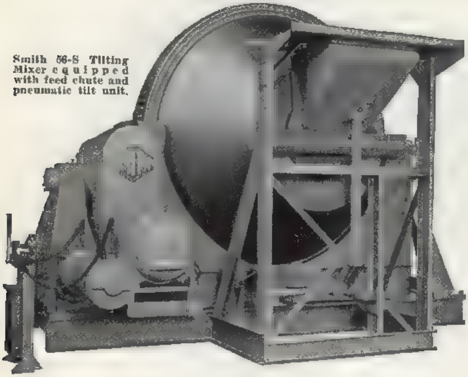
SMITH MIXERS and SMITH-MOBILE TRUCK MIXERS



Smith 56-S Tilting Mixer equipped with feed chute and pneumatic tilt unit.

The World's Largest Concrete Projects Are SMITH-MIXED!

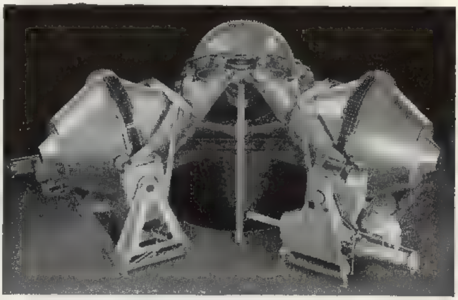
The Smith reputation for speed, thorough mixing and dependability has been built up over a period of 41 years on the world's largest concrete projects: Boulder Dam, Cherokee Dam, Watts Bar Dam, San Francisco-Oakland Bridge, Fort Peck Dam, Norris Dam, Muscle Shoals, Tygart Valley Reservoir, Panama Canal and many others of almost equal renown.

SMITH TILTERS are designed to produce uniform concrete of any consistency, on a fast production basis. They are invariably chosen for pouring the world's greatest construction projects. The inherent superiority of the tilting type of mixer is due to the dual cone drum construction with its converging blades and non-lift mixing. The famous "End-to-Center" mixing action makes possible the perfect and constant balancing of batch in center of drum. And the "tilt and pour" discharge speeds the concrete out of the drum. The result is a positive saving of several, and often many, seconds per batch in the discharge cycle alone. Ideal for the driest batches. Because no discharge chute is required, large aggregates, 8 to 12 inches or more, can easily be handled.

Other Smith Tilter features include: Fast, automatically tilting feed chute—All-welded, steel tilting frame—Machine cut reduction gears, running in oil—Multiple V-Belt drive—Anti-friction bearings throughout—High carbon steel drum ring gear and pinion, both with machine cut teeth—Adjustable guide rollers with tapered face.

READY-MIXED CONCRETE PLANTS. The Smith Tilter is ideal for mixing ready-mixed concrete that meets rigid individual requirements. The "tilt and pour" discharge is clean, complete, and fast. The entire batch pours directly into the truck. Mixing continues even during discharge—no chance for segregation of materials. Steady, uninterrupted service dictates the use of Smith Tilters in Commercial Concrete Plants.

FRONT-END CHARGING—A new method of loading mixers—conceived, developed and perfected by Smith engineers. A battery of two, three or four Smith Tilters are arranged to both charge and discharge through same drum opening. Requires much less headroom. Speeds up the job. The illustration at right shows three 2-yard Smith Front End Charging Mixers used at Watts Bar Dam.



Big Smith Tilters are available in four sizes: 28-S, 56-S, 84-S, and 112-S, with feed chute or batch-hopper equipment.

To these owners we suggest water delivery as the extra wide beam prevents rail shipment to some localities.

If you want a Matthews this season don't delay your order as production will be necessarily limited.

WALLOWING ACROSS THE GULF STREAM

been a signal, the weather now began to clear. Bob and I took our place on deck, sextant in hand, and waited for a shot. None came until noon, when we were both lucky enough to get good meridian altitude readings which agreed. Just in the nick of time, too, because it clouded over again.

We must have been extremely tired because we had the greatest difficulty trying to work that simple sight without making mistakes, when we finally came out with latitudes only a mile apart, we decided to call it a day.

So far, so good, but a latitude is not a fix and, in shooting for a speck in the ocean like Bermuda, it is risky business to assume a longitude which may be miles out. If we should miss it and then run out of gas, we would be in a pickle indeed. From the look of the sky one could see there was little hope for any afternoon sight.

In this fresh predicament, I hit upon what seemed to me a brilliant idea. It was the method used by most seafarers before the days of chronometers. We knew that we must be still to the westward of Bermuda. We also knew our latitude exactly. What I proposed to do was to head south (true) and run down our latitude to that of Bermuda (by log), then head east (true) and proceed on that course until we raised the islands.

Bob saw the point at once and we called Skipper down and laid the proposal before him. And now we discovered the difficulty in having a non-navigating captain for Skip could only see that we were short of gas and ought to go the shortest way. However, we finally convinced him that in this case the longest way 'round was the safest, since we would surely run out of gas if we went the short way and missed.

At all events, we were as anxious as anybody to get to the islands so veiled threats did not have much effect. I realized that they came chiefly from a bad state of nerves — unaccustomed hardship and danger and a sense of having been let in for something grim when one thought one was going for fun — but still that type of mind is hard to understand. I suppose those are the people who make trouble in a shipwreck or an open boat.

We reached the latitude of Bermuda shortly after dark and changed course to east (true). I hoped that we would raise Gibbs Hill Light before morning but, when I turned out for the mid watch, it was not in sight. The night passed and morning came. It dawned bright and clear, with a moderate southerly breeze and a smooth sea. Meanwhile, gas was getting low. One tank had been finished the previous afternoon and we had only a few inches left in No. 2. For the first time, I had serious misgivings. Suppose we had gone past Bermuda in the night! It did not seem as though we could have missed the light but I remembered one time when the sea was calm, as though we were passing through the lee of land.

It was with considerable trepidation that I went up with Bob to take the morning sights, a feeling not at all lessened by the looks on the faces of the crew. They had the air of men obliged to put their faith in something they did not trust — which, I suppose, was just about the fact. We took a row of shots but, when we came to compare altitudes, they did not at all agree. Whether it was fatigue or excitement — or a combination of the two — I do not know but it was plain this would not do. Time was passing but, still, it was vital that our results agree. I had faith in my own shots but, since Bob was the navigator, that did not avail. So we came back to take some more and this time there was no disguising the tension. I shall not forget the silence when Bob and I each called "Time!" within a few seconds of each other and then looked to read our altitudes. Or the relief when they were only seconds apart!

Skipper had been noting the times and his face was drawn as he handed us the notation. We had the cabin to ourselves but, try as we might, we could not get similar results. We were using the old time sight method — this was before the day of Marc St. Hilaire — and the formidable computation was more than our weary brains could cope with. Tables of figures swam before my eyes and I would forget a number before I could write it down. Then Bob suggested that we exchange papers and hunt for each other's errors. This finally worked. Our sights agreed and put the ship still some twenty miles west of Bermuda. We had been much farther west than either one of us suspected. If we had attempted to lay a course from the assumed position of the previous noon, we would have missed the islands completely.

Though it settled all doubts, our report was greeted without enthusiasm as the gas by this time was extremely low. However, a bright sun and fine weather had had their effect and spirits on board Maribel were slowly rising. But I was not satisfied till we got a meridian altitude and found ourselves in the exact latitude of Gibbs Hill.

We raised the land shortly after noon and made a circuit to avoid the reefs extending westward from Bermuda. By three o'clock, we were off St. George's and it was not long until Maribel tied up to a dock in that picturesque old harbor. We learned, then, that we had passed through the fringe of a hurricane and that our ship had been given up for lost.

MOLDED BOATS

The hundreds of Boat-builders and their tens of thousands of customers who visited the United States Plywood Corp. display at the New York Motor Boat Show agreed that this is the most amazing development in generations of boat-building . . small boats assembled and finished by boat builders with one-piece, supremely light and strong molded hulls.

Gone is the back-ache and guesswork from boat-building. Gone is the hard-chine restrictions of flat Weldwood panel construction.

Stock hulls are ready for delivery to all boat-builders. Special designs such as the new 12' and 14' Internationals and the Crosley Marine 15' Inboard, are available for others requiring restricted models.

Individuals desiring to "build-their-own" can obtain knocked-down kits of any of the stock models through boat-builders or distributors.

WELDWOOD waterproof GLUE, the first one-part plastic resin adhesive, ideal for Marine Work and suitable alike for professional and amateur use, is sold through hardware stores and Marine supply distributors generally.

If your dealer can not supply it, send his name and 25c in COIN (stamps not accepted) for generous sized can and manual.

EAGLE RUBBER ISSUES NEW BALLOON CATALOG

Eagle Rubber Company, Inc. have recently issued a new balloon catalog attractively illustrated and listing their balloon line. Copies are now available for distribution and will be promptly supplied to all interested buyers.

HORSES!—HORSES

Most of us remember the good old horse and buggy days. Among my school mates there was a dark-haired artist by the name of Will Hays. He was the son of a famous American artist and the brother of a famous sculptor, and he spent a large part of his time painting pictures of fire engines racing down the streets of old New York, drawn by three galloping horses. Everybody was thrilled by the engines themselves and by the pictures Will drew, and everybody still loves a galloping horse and a plunging, steam-powered fire engine. Today these horse-drawn toys have struck a new note of popularity. The Kenton Hardware Company is showing perfect specimens of circus wagons, caliopes, fire apparatus, and all sorts of wagons, all of them drawn by prancing horses. Of course there are the modern streamlined toys of the motor age, but an old-timer like myself must be excused for enthusing over the iron toy with the plump horse decked out in shining harness.

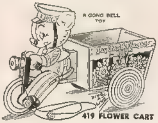
Gong Bell Trailer Truck

NEW GONG BELL TOYS

The Trailer Truck No. 297 represents a radical departure from the general line of pull toys. In an effort to provide more educational and play value in a pull toy, this item has been developed for the child who is still too small to play with the larger steel toys now on the market. The Trailer, fitted with a movable tailboard, is detachable from the truck to provide the extra play value. An imitation motor sound adds interest and amusement to this toy. The sides of the Trailer are lithographed with a map of the U. S. A. showing the name and principal product of each state. All wooden parts are enameled in bright colors. The attractive appearance and unusual play value of this toy should make it the outstanding dollar number in the pull toy field.



In the No. 419 Flower Cart, a bear character in messenger boy uniform rides a tricycle cart attractively decorated to represent a florist's delivery wagon. Musical chimes in the rear wheels provide a pleasing sound. The pedal action of the character is interesting, amusing and very realistic. This is a very good fifty-cent retail value.

These attractive toys are made by the Gong Bell Mfg. Co., of East Hampton, Conn.

GOLDBERGER DOLLS & STUFFED TOYS

Goldberger Doll Corporation will be represented at the Fair by E. Goldberger and Ben Heller. This firm will show a wide range of dolls including composition items, Cuddly Baby Dolls and soft dolls "Gene" Goldberger states that the entire line has been completely revamped and many entirely new numbers added. A wide range of stuffed toys and novelties will also occupy a prominent place in the display in Rooms 338-340 at the Hotel McAlpin, as well as at their permanent showroom, 1208 at 1107 Broadway, New York City.

Wolverine Mechanical Battleship

REALISTIC BATTLESHIP

A new and fascinating action toy is "steaming" cross the horizon. It's the Wolverine Mechanical Battleship. Unprecedented pre-season sales mark this sensational toy item for a leading retailer this year. This battleship is realistic in every detail; from its graceful streamlines to its warship colors. And as an exciting extra feature it has 3 guns in the rear turret that actually fire harmless sparks as the ship plows ahead. A powerful spring-wind motor propels the battleship for long-distances with one winding. The ship is 14¾" long and is individually packed in an attractive box. It should be a hit at $1 00 retail.

The Jugarine

A ROOM FULL OF MUSICAL TOYS

The Chicago Musical Instrument Co., makers of the well known Tonette, Cadet Bugler, Bugle Boy and other musical toys, will show their complete 1941 line at the Hotel McAlpin during the Toy Fair. One of their interesting new items is the "American Song Bird," a bird whistle made of molded rubber in the shape of a bird and finished in natural bird colors. Another featured musical item is their Jugarine. In appearance it looks like a little brown jug but plays and sounds like a jug-tone ocarina. Made of fine pottery, it is easy to play by music lovers of all ages.

UNITED STATES TOOL CHESTS

United States Lock & Hardware Company of Columbia, Pa., will show a wide range of tool chests at their New York salesroom, 200 Fifth Avenue. A full line of tool sets on cards, golf sets, jacksets and castings will also be included in the display. A. D. Josephson will show the line to visiting buyers.

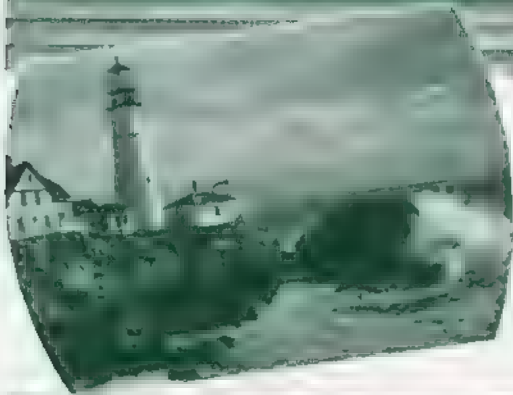
PORTLAND

Vacation City on Casco Bay



Picture a cosmopolitan city of seventy-five thousand people built on a high peninsula less than a mile wide, nearly surrounded by water, swept by cool sea breezes, and bathed in sparkling clear sunshine; a city alive with gay summer throngs. That's Portland.

Portland, the metropolis of Maine, is a beautiful city. A handsomely landscaped Promenade overlooks Portland Harbor and Casco Bay busy with craft of all descriptions. The Western Promenade, with many fine private residences, overlooks a rolling country to the White Mountains sixty miles away and into sunsets beyond description.

Fine public buildings distinguish the City of Portland. Excellent hotels, comfortable tourist homes, splendid restaurants featuring Maine shore dinners, large department stores and specialty shops, good banking facilities, theatres, libraries, churches, art, historical and a natural history museum.

Of particular interest is the birthplace of the poet, Longfellow. Also Portland City Hall where summer concerts are given on the Municipal organ, a gift to his native city from the late Cyrus H. K. Curtis. Portland maintains a fine municipal golf course, twenty tennis courts, bowling on the green, and other outdoor sports.

Within ten miles of Portland are nine golf courses. Variety, a new course every day. Plenty of chance to enjoy sailing or motor boating; tuna and other deep sea fishing or fresh water lakes and streams, just a few miles from town. Trips by small steamer among the beautiful islands of Casco Bay; or a quiet spot wtih a cottage for the season to gratify your heart's desire on sea coast, island or lake.

Motor rides of endless variety. Short runs along the coast or back through the mountain and lake country. To Old Orchard or other famed Maine beaches. No finer summer headquarters can be found than right here in the City of Portland.

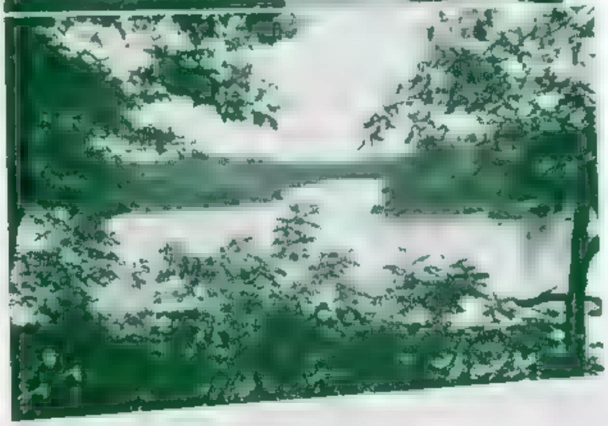
SKOWHEGAN

FROM THE INDIAN WORD MEANING

"A PLACE TO WATCH"

Artemus Ward called it, "The Gardenspot of America." Look at your map—IT IS THE HEART OF MAINE'S VACATIONLAND. The hub of several of Maine's principal highway systems.



Half way between the White Mountains and Bar Harbor and between Boston and Quebec—that's Skowhegan. Just as in Indian days when watching for salmon at our falls in the Kennebec River may have been the only industry, Skowhegan is still a place to watch. In this attractive town nestled on both sides of a harnessed river and close to a picturesque island bearing an Arnold expedition marker, we manufacture an abundance of woolen cloth, worsted yarn, shoes, moccasins, and hardwood novelties. We have modern stores, restaurants and hotels. We have fine schools and many churches. Rich farmlands with vast plains and rolling hills are at every vista outside the pleasing residential areas of well-kept streets with elm and maple borders.

Lakewood, nationally-known resort, is only an eight-minutes' drive from the center of our town. There thousands annually see some of the finest theatrical productions by America's oldest summer stock company and enjoy golf, swimming, boating, fishing, dancing, and other healthful outdoor recreation. Hunting and fishing is all about us. Remember that this section is dotted with lakes and ponds, with streams and brooks galore. Moosehead lake is about an hour's drive.

More than 7000 call Skowhegan home. This is the shire town of Somerset County. When happy vacation days bring you to this central section of the grand State of Maine, tarry awhile with us. Visit Coburn Park, with river views of which we are justly proud. Hie yourself to History House, rich in early Americana. In neighboring Norridgewock see the 1794 church and in Madison the monument to Father Rale. The longer you enjoy your sojourn in this vicinity the more you will wish to share the community with us as a future vacation spot or as a year-around home.

one generation people crowded this land and these shores until their weight might well have sunk them; and in the next people left at the first excuse, crowding other places. But all the time these have been the same shores, with plenty of clams for the digging and plenty of fish at the river-mouths, and this is the same land, none of it so far outworn it cannot be renewed if a man set to it, and much still virgin, awaiting only stout and willing arms. There is soil and water, sun and rain, woods and brooks and seed and natural fertilizer, as there has always been. Anyone who does not want too much can live here. YORK BEACH CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

York County

By JOY DOW, JR.

All states have to begin somewhere. Historically, Maine began in York County; geographically, Maine begins with York County. Over 80% of all visitors to the state come in through this southernmost tip of Maine.

Not only is the county the show-window of Maine—the part that folks see first when they enter the state—but it is also a miniature of all of its other fifteen counties. Here in York County one can find lakes, rivers, streams, beaches, even mountains in the Northwestern part. Here one can hunt, fish, swim, ski, hike or just take it easy. It has as great a variety of recreational resources and possibilities as any other county in the state.

Boston is only fifty miles away to the South. A seventy-five mile drive from that metropolis will bring you right smack into a virgin lake region which few people even know exists. Or the same drive will land you on the sparkling white sands of the largest and best beaches in the State of Maine.

Maybe you would like to own an old home in York County, an old farm house; the county has hundreds of them. Go back through Parsonsfield, Cornish, Limington, Limerick, Newfield or Shapleigh and you'll be shown more beautiful sites for homes and more beautiful homes than you will find in any other region of the same size in the country. Maybe you're interested in the farming areas around Hollis, Buxton, East Waterboro on Little Ossipee Lake, Waterboro, Dayton, Lebanon, Lyman, Acton and North Kennebunkport. This area has an average of 140 consecutive days without killing frosts and proudly boasts of the longest-growing season in Maine. Abundant rainfall of 23 inches in this area during the months of April to October inclusive is excellent for high crop yields. One orchard in the county has 16,000 trees, the largest orchard in the state. The county has 108,000 acres of farm forests alone.

Maybe you would like to take a drive to Sanford to do some shopping. Maybe to Biddeford; both large industrial and business centers. Maybe you would prefer to drive over to the Berwicks, famous historically, and the homes of authoress Gladys Hasty Carroll and the late historian, Sarah Orne Jewett. Saco, which was first settled in 1631 and was the seat of the first court in Maine over 300 years ago, is the only town in the county which produced a governor of the state. Its beautiful main street is one of the best preserved colonial main streets in Maine.

A FOX TERRIER IS GEARED FOR ACTION

The Wirehaired Terrier is a high-ranking dog in American favoritism. He is in the "first four" bracket of the fifteen most popular breeds registered with the American Kennel Club. But his admiring friends aren't limited to this country. Wherever the English language is spoken Fox Terriers will be found. The Fox Terrier is an ancient breed of English origin. It is thought that the Wirehaired and the Smooth developed from entirely different sources. The ancestors of the Wire were undoubtedly working dogs—rough-coated black and tan terriers of Wales. From them, no doubt, the Wirehaired acquires his keen eyesight and his stick-to-itiveness. When a Wire makes up his mind, persuading him to change it takes tact. He is inclined to "make something" of another dog's slightest overture. But this combativeness is undoubtedly just misdirected energy, for it must be remembered he was bred originally to dig out the fox. And it's a far cry from that type of hardy work to the pampered life of a city dog. Consequently, it is only natural that the "true terrier" temperament should come into play and scare up excitement on the slightest provocation. Those who know Wires well agree that a real Wire should be strong and gay, and have about him a brave, wise way. —Chase Herendeen

THE TERRIER FROM THE ISLE OF SKYE

The Skye Terrier—"which by reason of the length of heare makes show neither of face nor body." The Skye has an extraordinary appearance. It's difficult, because of his long coat, to tell where he begins or leaves off—making him a misunderstood dog. No one who isn't informed about the breed can be expected to know that the Scotchman of the quaint shape (two and a half times as long as his shoulder height) is a dog of great character. But the truth is, the Skye retains those admirable characteristics which were his four centuries ago when he earned his bread as a hunter of vicious game. The Skye's looks and personality have remained the same throughout the years—and down to the end of the 19th century, he was the best known of all terriers—and now although his popularity has waned, his few understanding admirers are reluctant to change him in any way. They are proud to stand by the motto of the Skye Terrier Club—"Wha Daur Meddle Wi' Me."—Chase Hebenden.

Franklin County

By ROBERT F. WHITE, JR.

For the visitor intent upon spending a quiet, restful vacation embodying comforts and natural beauty, the environs of Franklin County commend themselves to the most discriminating.

With Farmington, the shire town, as the hub, good roads lead to the many smaller towns and villages, through rolling country indescribably beautiful, dotted with lakes, blue-capped hills and picturesque forest—emerald-green in summer, dark in winter, multi-colored in spring, and gorgeous in autumn with its gaily-colored sweep from the valleys to the rounded summits.

Perhaps the most noted of summer resorts in the County is the Rangeley Region, 1500 to 1800 feet above sea level. Here come sportsmen, statesmen, scholars, artists and nature lovers to rest and play. The Region lies in the great Appalachian range. It contains the second highest mountain in Maine—Saddleback; and because of its elevation and its pure spruce-scented air the Rangeley Region is famed as a health-giving summer resort, free from hay fever conditions.

Rangeley's chain of lakes embracing Rangeley, Quimby Pond, Dodge Pond, Kennebago, Loon, Saddleback, Mooselookmeguntic, Cupsuptic, Upper and Lower Richardson and Umbagog lakes with connecting streams, affords an imperative lure to vacationists all over the world—450 square miles of playground in which to fish, swim, canoe, hunt and loaf.

Besides its Saddleback, Franklin County contains scores of other mountain summits of varying elevation offering every variety of mountain climbing and hiking.

The Rangeley Region is the birthplace of the cabin idea of summer hotel life, wherein you and your family occupy a separate cabin, oftentimes built of logs, with a fireplace in the living room, ample verandas, one, two or more bedrooms with private bath. You are relieved of all housekeeping details as all service is provided from a larger main cabin in which is usually found the office, dining room, recreation room, lounge, more fireplaces and more often than not a library of good books.

While Dad is perhaps off fishing Mother can ride horseback, knit, play bridge, listen to music on the radio, walk a bit, meet congenial people and enjoy the entertainment provided for her and the children by the camp management. Such camps are now found in many other lake regions.

Eustis is a favorite haunt of the hunter and fisherman. Here also are found the famous "cathedral pines," one of the few remaining stands of virgin timber. Names like King & Bartlett, Deer Pond, Jim Pond, Round Mountain Lake and Tim Pond have made this

The Playground of Maine

Rangeley is the ideal family vacation spot—three sporty golf courses, saddle trails, motor boating, canoeing, camping and mountain climbing. 2,000 feet elevation affords excellent relief to hay-fever sufferers.

Renowned for salmon and trout fishing. Splendid fly fishing in June and September. Deer, bear, partridge and duck shooting. Ultra hotels, and camps with every modern convenience. Also motor and overnight camp cottages. Tenting sites. Come to Rangeley over new black roads. Information requests quickly answered.
